MARKING PRINCIPLE

At B1, mark the choice as well as the form. The key question for every item is: does the learner's form say what the sentence means? Be generous where real English is flexible. American English often uses the past simple with just / already / yet ("Did you eat yet?", "I just ate"): accept it in speech and in open writing, but in Exercises 2 and 4 of Lesson 1.1 the target is the present perfect. Simple and continuous overlap with some verbs (I've lived / I've been living here for five years are both correct). British forms (got, film, flat, football, practise, garden) are acceptable when a learner uses them. A small spelling slip ("writting") is a success with a note.

1.1 • PRESENT PERFECT VS PAST SIMPLE (C1)

◆ EXERCISE 1 – SAM'S NEWS (SCRIPT 1.1-A)

- 1 He's started a new job (at a hotel downtown, as a receptionist).
- 2 Two weeks ago.
- 3 No, never. (No, he hasn't.)
- 4 At a bank, for three years.
- 5 Yes, he has. He met her on his first day.
- 6 He still hasn't learned everyone's name.
- 7 She's just finished her exams.

Discussion question: Sam opens with the present perfect ("I've started a new job") and gives the details in the past simple ("I started two weeks ago," "I worked at a bank," "I met her on my first day"). Accept short answers ("two weeks ago," "a bank, three years").

◆ EXERCISE 2 – PRESENT PERFECT OR PAST SIMPLE?

- 1 have seen ('ve seen): an experience, no finished time.

- 2 saw: last Friday is a finished time.
- 3 has lived ('s lived): since 2020 and still true. (Also correct: has been living.)
- 4 Have ... been: ever = in your life up to now.
- 5 haven't finished: yet = up to now.
- 6 started: two weeks ago is a finished time.
- 7 've lost (have lost): news with a result now (I can't find them). "I lost my keys" is understood and common in American English; accept it with a note.
- 8 did ... get: When...? asks for a finished time, so it always takes the past simple.

Wrong: "I have seen it last Friday" · "When have you got your first phone?" · "She lives in Paris since 2020" · "Have you ever went...?"

◆ EXERCISE 3 – FOR OR SINCE?

1 for (five years = a length) · 2 since (college = a start point) · 3 since (last week) · 4 for (a long time) · 5 for (two years) · 6 since (Monday).

Item 2: since university / since school are also fine. If a learner writes "since we were in college," praise it: since + a past-simple clause is a stretch form.

◆ EXERCISE 4 – JUST, ALREADY, YET, STILL

1 yet · 2 still · 3 just · 4 already · 5 yet · 6 just.

Item 1: "Have you already finished your homework?" is possible English (it shows surprise that it happened so early), but already goes before the participle, not at the end, so in this position only yet is correct. Item 4 is the same idea: surprise → already.

◆ EXERCISE 5 – FINISHED OR CONNECTED TO NOW? THEN "MY STORY"

← END Finished time (past simple)	→ ● Connected to now (present perfect)
yesterday · last summer · in 2019 · two hours ago · when I was a child · on Friday	ever · this week · never · today · so far · since Monday today and this week go with the present perfect while the day or week is still going on ("I've had three coffees today"). A learner who says "I had a big breakfast today" (the morning is finished) is also right: praise the thinking.

My story (open). Look for: an opener in the present perfect with no time word, then 3–4 past-simple details with times and places. Model: I've cooked for fifty people. I did it at my cousin's wedding last summer. We started at six in the morning and made rice, chicken and three salads. Everyone loved it, but I was so tired!

◆ SPEAKING – TIMELINE INTERVIEW (CLASSROOM MATERIALS, SET E)

Answers are personal. Listen for: openers with Have you ever...? / How long have you...? + past participle; follow-ups with When / Where / Who ... did you...?; answers of 2–3 sentences; for / since for the "still true now" event. In the report: "He's played... He learned..." (not "He has learned it last year").

◆ SELF - CHECK

Q1

Which sentence is correct?

A) I have called him yesterday.

B) I called him yesterday.

C) I did called him yesterday.

Why: yesterday is a finished time, so the past simple. A breaks the golden rule; C is a double past (did + past form).

Q2

"I've studied English ___ three years."

A) for

B) since

C) ago

Why: three years is a length → for. since needs a start point (since 2023); ago goes with the past simple ("I started three years ago").

Q3 · new

"Where's Maria?" — "She's ___ to Japan. She's there for a month."

A) been

B) gone

C) went

Why: gone = she went and she is still there. been = went and came back (an experience). C is the past simple, and "She's went" is not a form.

ERRORS YOU WILL HEAR MOST (1.1)

"I have seen him yesterday." · "I live here since five years." · "since three years" / "for 2019" · "When have you arrived?" · "Have you ever went...?" · "I've been to Japan in 2019." · "She's been to the store. She's there now." (for gone) · "I've already eat." Correct the present perfect + finished time and the for / since mix every time. Let "I already ate / Did you eat yet?" go: it is normal American English.

1.2 · PRESENT PERFECT CONTINUOUS (C2)

◆ EXERCISE 1 – CATCHING UP (SCRIPT 1.2-A)

Who?	What have they been doing?	How long?	Result (simple)
Lena	taking a driving class	since January	She's had 8 lessons; she's driven on the highway twice.
Marco	working at the new supermarket	for three months	He's always tired (he's been getting up at five).
Marco	practicing the guitar	every evening	He's learned about ten songs.
Marco	fixing his bike	just now	His hands are dirty; he's fixed the chain (not the light).

Accept notes ("driving class · January · 8 lessons"). The result column is the simple vs continuous contrast: point it out when you check.

◆ EXERCISE 2 – MAKE PRESENT PERFECT CONTINUOUS SENTENCES

- 1 She's been working here since June.
- 2 They haven't been sleeping well lately.
- 3 How long have you been waiting?
- 4 It's been raining all day.
- 5 He's been learning to drive for six months.

Also correct: full forms (She has been working...) and They've not been sleeping (less common). Wrong: "She has working" · "She's been work" · "How long you have been waiting?" · "It's raining all day" (for duration up to now).

◆ EXERCISE 3 – SIMPLE OR CONTINUOUS?

- 1 have read ('ve read): how many → result.
- 2 have been reading: how long → activity.
- 3 has painted: counted and finished (two rooms already).

- 4 have been waiting: duration. (have waited is possible but less natural.)
- 5 have known: know is a stative verb, so no continuous.
- 6 has been driving: how long (for six hours), and it explains why she needs a break.
- 7 have drunk ('ve drunk): how many (three cups). "I've drank" is common in speech but non-standard; correct it gently.

◆ EXERCISE 4 – WHAT HAVE THEY BEEN DOING?

1 have been working ('ve been working) · 2 has been baking ('s been baking) · 3 Have ... been running · 4 have been planting · 5 has been fixing · 6 Have ... been swimming.

In 1, "I've worked all day" is also acceptable (the day is finished, a result). The continuous is better because it explains the tiredness.

◆ EXERCISE 5 – THE STATIVE-VERB TRAP

- 1 ✗ → I've known Maria since school.
- 2 ✓ (an activity: duration)
- 3 ✗ → She's had this car since 2019. (have = own)
- 4 ✗ → They've wanted a dog for ages.
- 5 ✓ (having problems = experiencing, an activity)
- 6 ✗ → He's liked his new job since he started. (Also correct: He likes his new job.)

Item 6: "I'm loving it" is heard in advertising and casual speech. Explain that it is informal, and not the standard form for tests or work.

◆ SPEAKING – CATCHING UP AND THE "LATELY" TABLE (OPEN)

Check: have / has been + -ing, for / since for how long, and one result in the simple. Model: I've been learning the guitar for six months. I've learned about ten songs. I've been working a lot lately, so I haven't been sleeping well. I've been cooking more at home since January. I've tried twelve new recipes!

◆ CLUE GAME & FIND SOMEONE WHO (CLASSROOM MATERIALS)

Clue game (Set F): the target answer is printed small on each card, but any logical guess with Have you been + -ing? is correct. Find Someone Who (Set H): answers are personal; check the question form Have you ever + past participle? and a past-simple follow-up (When did you...?). The common participles: been, eaten, met, seen, run, cooked, won, flown, sung.

◆ SELF-CHECK

Q1

Which sentence is correct?

A) She has working here since May.

B) She has been working here since May.

C) She has been work here since May.

Why: the form is has + been + verb-ing. A drops been; C drops the -ing.

Q2

"I've ___ five emails this morning."

A) written

B) been writing

C) wrote

Why: five emails is a counted result (how many?), so the simple. B focuses on duration; C is the past simple (and "I've wrote" is not a form).

Q3 · new

"I ___ her since we were at school."

A) 've been knowing

B) 've known

C) know

Why: know is a stative verb, so the present perfect simple even for duration. C is the present simple, which can't go with since.

ERRORS YOU WILL HEAR MOST (1.2)

"I have working all day." · "I am working here since 2020." · "I've been knowing him for years." · "She's been having a car since 2019." · "I've been reading three books." · "He have been running." · "How long you have been waiting?" Correct the missing been, the present tense with since, and the stative verbs every time. A choice of simple where the continuous is more natural ("I've waited for an hour") is not an error.

1.3 · USED TO & WOULD — PAST HABITS (C3)

◆ EXERCISE 1 – THEN AND NOW (SCRIPT 1.3-A)

1 T · 2 F (people didn't use to shop online, so there weren't many packages) · 3 T · 4 F (she works on the phone and online now) · 5 T · 6 F (he liked it better before).

Discussion question (open): most learners say Joe (letters → packages) or Grace (counter → app). Any answer with a reason is correct. Listen for used to in the answers.

◆ EXERCISE 2 – USED TO (+ / - / ?)

- 1 used to play
- 2 didn't use to like
- 3 Did ... use to have
- 4 used to be
- 5 didn't use to have

Also correct: never used to for 2 and 5 ("She never used to like vegetables"). Wrong: "didn't used to" · "Did you used to" · "used to played." Note: many native writers write "didn't used to"; it is common but not standard. Mark it as a spelling point, not a grammar error.

◆ EXERCISE 3 – USED TO OR WOULD?

- 1 both: used to tell / would tell (a repeated action)
- 2 only used to: live is a state
- 3 both: used to go / would go (a repeated action)
- 4 only used to: have (= own) is a state
- 5 only used to: know is a state
- 6 both: used to sing / would sing (a repeated action; the past time frame is clear)

◆ EXERCISE 4 – REWRITE WITH USED TO

- 1 When I was a teenager, I used to listen to rock music.
- 2 My town used to have a train station. (Also: There used to be a train station in my town.)
- 3 We used to eat dinner together every evening. (Also: We would eat...)
- 4 She used to be very shy at school.
- 5 People didn't use to shop online.
- 6 Did you use to walk to school when you were a child?

Wrong: "She would be very shy" (a state) · "People didn't used to shop" · "Did you used to walk...?"

◆ EXERCISE 5 – THEN AND NOW (OPEN)

Look for: two used to sentences (at least one state is ideal), one would for a repeated action, one "now" sentence in the present simple, and an opinion with because. Model (getting around): People used to use paper maps. There didn't use to be GPS. On long trips, my father would stop and ask for directions. Now our phones tell us where to go. I think it's better now, because we don't get lost, but people used to talk to each other more.

◆ SPEAKING – HOW LIFE HAS CHANGED (CLASSROOM MATERIALS, SET G)

Open discussion. Success = everyone speaks (the tokens are used), each person gives at least one used to and one opinion with a reason, and the reporter summarizes the group. Listen for would with states and the used to / use to spelling in any notes. Do not mark the content: "better before" and "better now" are both good answers.

◆ SELF-CHECK

Q1

Which sentence is spelled correctly?

A) Did you used to live here?

B) Did you use to live here?

C) Did you used to living here?

| Why: after did, the verb goes back to its base form: use to, just like "Did you want?" (not "Did you wanted?").

Q2

"When I was young, I ___ have a dog."

A) used to

B) would

C) was used to

| Why: have (a dog) is a state, so only used to. would works only for repeated actions; be used to means "comfortable with" and needs -ing.

Q3 · new

Which sentence is correct?

A) There would be a movie theater on Main Street.

B) There used to be a movie theater on Main Street.

C) There use to be a movie theater on Main Street.

Why: be is a state, so used to, not would. C has the wrong spelling: no did, so it's used with a d.

ERRORS YOU WILL HEAR MOST (1.3)

"I would live in a small town." · "Did you used to...?" / "I didn't used to..." · "I used to went." · "I use to drink coffee every morning." (for a present habit: teach usually) · "Before, I live in..." · "I was used to walk to school." · "use-ed to" (pronunciation). Correct would + state and the present-habit "use to" every time: they change the meaning. The spelling after did matters only in writing.

Module 2 — If & Imagining (Conditionals): Answers

Answers to every Module 2 workbook exercise and self-check question, with the "why," acceptable alternatives, the classroom-materials answers (card sort, dilemmas, Small Wishes, Wish Mingle), and the errors you can expect to hear most.

Lessons 2.1-2.3

Classes C4-C6

9 self-check items

15 exercises

MARKING PRINCIPLE

At B1, mark the verb pair first: present + present (zero), present + will (first), past + would (second), wish + past / were / could / would. A wrong pair changes the meaning ("If I had time, I'll call") and is an error. Be generous with the choice between zero and first where both make sense (If you heat water, it boils / it'll boil), and accept was for were in speaking (informal but common), while noting were as the standard for writing. Contractions and full forms are both correct. American English is the model; British forms (flat, holiday, neighbour, football, apologise) are acceptable when a learner uses them.

2.1 • ZERO & FIRST CONDITIONAL (C4)

◆ EXERCISE 1 – TIP TIME (SCRIPT 2.1-A)

#	Result	Type
1	doesn't boil over	H
2	gets soft again	H
3	charges faster	H
4	you'll have bad luck	S
5	you'll get (some) money (soon)	S
6	will start at two (o'clock)	F
7	won't go out (on the lake)	F

Also accept "won't boil over" (1) and "will get soft" (2): meaning is the same. Discussion answer: the superstitions use will because people tell them like predictions of one future result.

◆ EXERCISE 2 – VERB FORMS

- 1 heat ... melts (zero: a fact)

- 2 rains ... won't go
- 3 get ... 'll call (will call)
- 4 study ... 'll pass (will pass)
- 5 press ... turns (zero: how it always works)
- 6 leave ... 'll miss (will miss)
- 7 see ... tell (imperative)

Also correct: 1 "will melt" (a prediction; accept, but the fact reads better with melts) · 4 "can pass / might pass".

Wrong: "If it will rain" · "When I will get" · "Unless you don't leave" · 7 "you will tell him" (grammatical but not the order the prompt asks for).

◆ EXERCISE 3 – MATCH

1 e (we'll miss the train) · 2 a (I'll lend you my umbrella) · 3 b (I'll make you a sandwich) · 4 c (my parents will celebrate) · 5 d (she'll be really happy).

◆ EXERCISE 4 – IF / WHEN / UNLESS + COMMAS

1 When (sure) · 2 If (maybe) · 3 unless · 4 Unless · 5 when · 6 unless.

Commas: a) If I see Anna, I'll tell her. · b) no comma · c) When you're ready, call me.

In 3, "You'll be cold if you don't wear a coat" is also correct if a learner rewrites it. Wrong: "unless you don't wear a coat."

◆ EXERCISE 5 – ONE SENTENCE + "MY SIX PREDICTIONS"

- 1 If I have time, I'll help you.
- 2 If you see Anna, give her this book.
- 3 If we leave early, we won't hit traffic.
- 4 I'll be late unless I leave now.
- 5 You won't succeed unless you try.

Also correct: the clauses in the other order (no comma): "I'll help you if I have time." · 2 "Please give her this book if you see her." · 4 "Unless I leave now, I'll be late."

My six predictions (open). Look for: present after if / when / unless, will / won't (or can / might) in the result, one unless, one when, commas. Model: If I finish work early on Friday, I'll cook something nice. If it's sunny on Saturday, we'll go to the park. When I get my paycheck, I'll buy new shoes. I won't be tired on Monday unless I stay up late. If the bus is late, I'll walk. If I practice every day, my English will get better.

◆ SPEAKING – LIFE HACKS & SUPERSTITIONS CARD SORT (SET D)

 Always true (zero)	 Superstition	 17 One real future (first)
wooden spoon → the water doesn't boil over bread + brown sugar → the sugar stays soft freeze grapes → they make great ice cubes airplane mode → your phone charges faster blue and yellow → you get green coffee late → I can't sleep (habit)	break a mirror → seven years of bad luck umbrella indoors → you'll have bad luck right hand itches → you'll get some money soon four-leaf clover → you'll have good luck spill salt → throw a little over your left shoulder! (imperative) ears are burning → someone is talking about you (zero form!)	If we leave now → we won't be late If it rains this afternoon → I'll take the bus Unless you hurry → you'll miss the train When I get home tonight → I'll call you

Accept any logical swap among the "bad luck / good luck" results (e.g. mirror ↔ umbrella) and among the four real-future results, as long as the verb pattern fits. Discussion point: most superstitions use the first conditional form (a predicted result), but "ears are burning" uses the zero form (a "rule"). Both are fine. Life Hack Wall notes: check If / When + present, present.

◆ SELF - CHECK

Q1

Which sentence is correct?

A) If it will rain, I'll stay home.

B) If it rains, I'll stay home.

C) If it will rain, I will stay home.

Why: present simple after if; will goes in the result only.

Q2

"I'll miss the bus ____ I run." (= if I don't run)

A) unless

B) when

C) if

Why: unless I run = if I don't run. When means it's certain; if I run says the opposite.

Q3 · new

When I ____ home tonight, I'll call you.

A) will get

B) get

C) got

Why: when follows the same rule as if: present simple for a future meaning, got is past.

ERRORS YOU WILL HEAR MOST (2.1)

"If it will rain, I'll..." · "When I will get home..." · "If it rains tomorrow, I stay home." (present in the result for one future) · "Unless you don't hurry..." · "If you heat ice, it will melts." · no comma after a first if-clause (writing only). Correct the first two every time; the others with a recast.

2.2 · SECOND CONDITIONAL (C5)

◆ EXERCISE 1 — SAM AND ROSA (SCRIPT 2.2-A)

1 F — Rosa would travel for a whole year; Sam would buy a little house by the sea. · 2 T · 3 T · 4 F — "If I were you, I'd take it." · 5 T · 6 T ("I'm going to go on Saturday").

"I'd" sentences: I'd quit my job · I'd travel for a whole year · I'd buy a little house by the sea · I'd take it · I'd say yes right away. Also "I might visit the city first" (might in the result).

◆ EXERCISE 2 — SECOND CONDITIONAL

- 1 had ... would learn ('d learn)
- 2 knew ... would call ('d call)
- 3 would travel ('d travel) ... didn't have
- 4 were ... wouldn't say
- 5 would ... do ... met

Also correct: 4 "was" (informal; note were as standard) · 1 "could learn". Wrong: "If I would have" · "we would travel more if we wouldn't have" · "What you would do".

◆ EXERCISE 3 — FIRST OR SECOND?

- 1 rains ... will take ('ll take) — first
- 2 were ... would change ('d change) — second

- 3 go ... will feel ('ll feel) — first
- 4 could ... wouldn't need — second
- 5 pass ... will celebrate ('ll celebrate) — first
- 6 were ... would sleep ('d sleep) — second

Also correct: 1 "might take" · 3 "might feel". Wrong: mixed pairs ("If I were the president, I'll change...").

◆ EXERCISE 4 – ADVICE (SAMPLE ANSWERS)

- 1 If I were you, I'd go to bed earlier. / ...I wouldn't drink coffee at night.
- 2 If I were you, I'd buy a new one. / ...I'd delete some old apps.
- 3 If I were you, I'd watch movies in English every day.
- 4 If I were you, I'd call her / him / them and apologize. / I wouldn't wait too long, if I were you.
- 5 If I were you, I'd put a small bowl by the door for your keys.
- 6 If I were you, I'd buy a travel mug. / ...I'd make coffee at work.

Any sensible advice is correct. Check: If I were you + I'd / I wouldn't + base verb. "If I was you" = informal (note it).

Wrong: "If I were you, I will..." · "If I am you..." · "I'd to go".

◆ EXERCISE 5 – WHAT WOULD YOU DO IF...? (OPEN)

Check: If I + past, I'd + base verb in every answer, one If I were..., one could / might. Model: If I had a free day tomorrow, I'd sleep late and cook a big breakfast. If I found $50 on the bus, I'd give it to the driver. If I could have any job for one day, I'd be a pilot. If I could speak every language, I'd work as a tour guide. If I met my favorite singer, I might ask for a photo. If I were on a free vacation, I'd go to the mountains.

◆ DILEMMA CARDS & ADVICE ROLE-PLAY (CLASSROOM MATERIALS)

Open answers: there is no right answer to a dilemma. Check the form (If I..., I'd... because...) and the reactions (I'd do the same. / Really? I wouldn't.). Advice role-play: any If I were you, I'd... that fits.

◆ SELF-CHECK

Q1

Which sentence uses the second conditional correctly?

A) If I will have money, I would travel.

B) If I had money, I would travel.

C) If I would have money, I travel.

Why: If + past simple (had), would + base verb. No will or would after if.

Q2

You really think rain is possible this afternoon. Which is best?

A) If it rains, I'll stay home.

B) If it rained, I'd stay home.

C) If it rained, I'll stay home.

Why: real and likely → first conditional. B is for an unlikely or imagined rain; C mixes past + will.

Q3 · new

Your friend says, "My phone is so slow." Which advice is best?

A) If I am you, I'll buy a new one.

B) If I were you, I'd buy a new one.

C) If I was you, I will buy a new one.

Why: the fixed advice phrase is If I were you, I'd... A uses the present; C mixes was with will.

ERRORS YOU WILL HEAR MOST (2.2)

"If I would have money, I'd..." · "If I have a million dollars, I'd..." · "If I had time, I'll call you." · "I buy a house" (dropped 'd) · "If I am you..." · "What you would do if..." Accept "If I was you" in speech.

2.3 · WISH & IF ONLY (C6)

◆ EXERCISE 1 – MAYA AND LEO (SCRIPT 2.3-A)

#	Word	Who?	Pattern
1	were	Maya	wish + were
2	would	Leo	wish + would (annoying)
3	lived	Maya	wish + past
4	could	Leo	wish + could (ability)
5	were	Maya	wish + were
6	would	Leo	wish + would (someone else)

Accept "was" in 1 and 5 with a note.

◆ EXERCISE 2 – COMPLETE THE WISH

1 had · 2 were (was OK in casual speech) · 3 knew · 4 were · 5 didn't live · 6 weren't (wasn't informal).

◆ EXERCISE 3 – PAST, COULD OR WOULD?

1 could (ability) · 2 would (someone else's annoying behavior) · 3 had (past) · 4 would (annoying) · 5 were (about yourself → never would).

◆ EXERCISE 4 – COMPLAINT → WISH (SAMPLE ANSWERS)

- 1 I wish my job weren't boring. / I wish I had a more interesting job.
- 2 I wish I could drive.
- 3 I wish my phone weren't so slow. / I wish I had a faster phone.
- 4 I wish you would close the door. / I wish you wouldn't leave the door open.
- 5 If only it were warm! / If only it were warmer!

Wrong: "I wish I can drive" · "I wish my phone isn't so slow" · "I wish you will close the door."

◆ EXERCISE 5 – HOPE OR WISH?

1 hope · 2 wish · 3 hope · 4 wish · 5 hope · 6 wish.

Rule to repeat: possible → hope + present; not real now → wish + past.

◆ SMALL WISHES, REAL FIXES (SET H) – MODEL WISHES AND FIXES

#	Wish	A possible fix or dream
1	I wish it would stop raining! / I wish it were sunny.	If I were you, I'd have an indoor picnic.
2	I wish it weren't so hot. / I wish I had air conditioning.	If you close the curtains in the morning, it'll stay cooler.
3	I wish it were warmer.	If I were you, I'd buy warm gloves.
4	I wish it were sunny.	If it were sunny, what would you do?
5	I wish I could sing.	If I were you, I'd sing anyway — karaoke is for fun!
6	I wish I could swim.	If you take a class, you'll learn fast.
7	I wish I could cook rice well.	If you wash it first and use less water, it'll be perfect.
8	I wish I could play the guitar.	If I were you, I'd watch free videos online.
9	I wish the bus would come on time.	If you take the earlier bus, you won't be late.
10	I wish I lived closer to work.	If I were you, I'd listen to podcasts on the way.

11	I wish the train weren't so crowded.	If you leave ten minutes earlier, you'll get a seat.
12	I wish tickets were cheaper.	If I were you, I'd buy a monthly pass.
13	I wish my roommate would do the dishes.	If I were you, I'd make a chore list together.
14	I wish my battery lasted longer.	If you turn down the screen, it'll last longer.
15	I wish my neighbor would turn the music down.	If I were you, I'd talk to them politely.
16	I wish I didn't have so much housework.	If I were you, I'd do fifteen minutes a day.

Any correct pattern that fits is fine. Wish Mingle (Set I): open answers; check "Do you wish you could...? — Yes, I do." and he / she wishes in the report.

◆ SELF - CHECK

Q1

Which sentence is correct (and standard)?

A) I wish I am on vacation.

B) I wish I were on vacation.

C) I wish I will be on vacation.

Why: a present wish uses a past form, and were is standard with I. (The online lesson says "holiday," the British word.)

Q2

Your neighbor plays loud music every night. It annoys you. Which is best?

A) I wish my neighbor would turn the music down.

B) I wish my neighbor could turn the music down.

C) I wish my neighbor turned the music down.

Why: wish + would = someone else's annoying behavior we want to change. could is about ability; C is possible but weaker.

Q3 · new

The forecast says sun tomorrow. Which is correct?

A) I wish it's sunny tomorrow.

B) I hope it's sunny tomorrow.

C) I wish it will be sunny tomorrow.

Why: sun tomorrow is possible → hope + present. wish is for things that are not real now.

ERRORS YOU WILL HEAR MOST (2.3)

"I wish I can swim." · "I wish I have a car." · "I wish I would be taller." · "I wish it will stop raining." · "I wish you come to my party." (→ I hope you can come) · "She wish she could..." (missing -es). Accept "I wish I was..." in speech.

Module 3 — Reporting & Connecting Ideas: Answers

Answers to every Module 3 workbook exercise and self-check question, with the "why," acceptable alternatives, the classroom-materials answers (Gossip Chain, Survey Report, Message Relay, definitions game and bingo, sentence strips), and the errors you can expect to hear most.

Lessons 3.1–3.3

Classes C7–C9

9 self-check items

15 exercises

MARKING PRINCIPLE

At B1, mark meaning first, then form. A report is correct if a listener gets the right message and the structure is right: the backshift after said / told, tell + person, statement word order in questions, (not) to after told / asked, and the right relative pronoun. Be generous about optional things: that can be used or dropped; backshift is optional when the fact is still true ("She said she lives in Rome"); if and whether are both correct; that and which are both correct in defining clauses about things; an object pronoun can be kept or dropped. Contractions (he'd, she'd) are fine. American English is the model; British forms (film, flat, mum, holiday, neighbour, practise) are acceptable when a learner uses them.

3.1 • REPORTED SPEECH — STATEMENTS (C7)

◆ EXERCISE 1 – LINA'S VOICEMAIL (SCRIPT 3.1-A)

1	2	3	4	5	6	7
was starting	had found	were	could	would finish	had seen	had to Lina's exact words: "I'm starting... · I've found... · The hours are good · I can walk... · I'll finish... · I saw the manager yesterday... · I must buy...". Also accept: 1 was going to start (meaning OK) · 5 'd finish. Not accepted: 1 "is starting" (no backshift is only OK if you report it the same day and the plan is still true, which is not the task here) · 7 "must" (must → had to is the target).

◆ EXERCISE 2 – REPORT IT

- 1 They said (that) they were watching a movie.
- 2 She said (that) she had lost her phone.
- 3 He said (that) he had seen the accident.
- 4 She told me (that) she would pay me back.
- 5 He told me (that) I could borrow his car.

- 6 She said (that) she had to leave early.
- 7 He said (that) he might be late.
- 8 She said (that) she would love to come. (no change: would is already "back")

Also correct: contractions (she'd lost, he'd seen, she'd pay); 1 film. Wrong: 2 "she has lost" · 3 "he saw" is acceptable in speech (past simple often stays in informal reports), but the target is had seen: mark with a note · 4 "she would pay you back" (the pronoun must be me) · 5 "I can borrow" · 6 "she must leave" · 8 "she would loved".

◆ EXERCISE 3 – SAY OR TELL?

1 told (person: me) · 2 said · 3 told (person: us) · 4 said · 5 tell (person: him) · 6 said · 7 tell (person: you) · 8 tell (a fixed phrase).

Note on 8: tell also goes with some nouns without a person: tell the truth, tell a story, tell a joke, tell a lie. Teach these as chunks. In 6, "The message told me the train was late" is also correct (a person is added).

◆ EXERCISE 4 – TIME AND PLACE WORDS (MONDAY → THURSDAY, CAFÉ → HOME)

- 1 Ben said (that) he would call me the next day. (or: the following day)
- 2 Ben said (that) he had bought that jacket the day before. (or: the previous day)
- 3 Ben said (that) he loved the coffee there.
- 4 Ben said (that) he had started his new job two weeks before. (or: two weeks earlier)

Also correct: 3 the coffee at the café; 4 he started (past simple often stays). Wrong: "tomorrow," "yesterday," "here," "ago" left unchanged (the time and place are different now) · "the next day" for yesterday (direction mix-up).

◆ EXERCISE 5 – FIND THE MISTAKE

- 1 She told me that she was tired. / She said that she was tired.
- 2 He told me he would help. (no to)
- 3 Maria said that she was tired.
- 4 They said they would arrive on Monday.
- 5 He said he had finished the report.

In 4, will is acceptable only if Monday is still in the future and you are reporting soon after. Accept with a note if a learner explains this; the safe answer is would.

◆ DIALOGUE – SAM'S EXACT WORDS

Reported verbs: was moving, 'd found (had found), had, would start, could visit, lived, would show. Sam's exact words (any two): "I'm moving to Chicago in June." · "I've found a great apartment near the lake." · "I have a new job at a bank." · "I'll start on June 1st." · "You can visit any time." · "My sister lives there too. She'll show you around." Note: "in June" doesn't change because June is still in the future.

◆ SPEAKING – GOSSIP CHAIN (NEWS CARDS) & "THINGS PEOPLE SAID TO ME"

The model report is printed small on the back of each news card (classroom materials, set C). Score 1 point per correct backshifted verb in the last learner's written report. Example (card 1): "Mrs. Lee said she was moving to Florida the next month. She said she had sold her car and her son would drive her there." (3 points.) "Things people said to me" is open: check said vs told + person, the backshift and the pronoun.

◆ SELF-CHECK

Q1

Direct: "I have finished my homework." Which is the correct report?

A) He said he has finished his homework.

B) He said he had finished his homework.

C) He said he had finished my homework.

Why: present perfect → past perfect (had finished), and my → his. A has no backshift; C forgets the pronoun change.

Q2

Which sentence is correct?

A) She said me that she was late.

B) She told to me that she was late.

C) She told me that she was late.

Why: tell + person, with no to. say cannot take a person directly.

Q3 • new

On Monday Tom said, "I'll call you tomorrow." It is now Friday.

A) Tom said he will call me tomorrow.

B) Tom said he would call me the next day.

C) Tom told he would call me the next day.

Why: will → would, and "tomorrow" was Tuesday, so it becomes the next day. C has told with no person.

ERRORS YOU WILL HEAR MOST (3.1)

"She said me..." · "He told to me..." · "She told that..." (no person) · "He said he is tired." (no backshift) · "She said she will come." · "My sister said he was tired." (he / she) · "Maria said I was tired." (pronoun not changed) · "He said he had went." Correct say / tell and the pronoun every time (they change the meaning or sound very wrong); treat a missing backshift gently when the meaning is clear.

3.2 · REPORTED QUESTIONS, REQUESTS & COMMANDS (C8)

◆ EXERCISE 1 – REPORT THE QUESTIONS

- 1 He asked what time the movie started.
- 2 They asked if / whether I was hungry.
- 3 She asked if / whether I had called my mother.
- 4 He asked if / whether I could drive.
- 5 She wanted to know when the bus would come.
- 6 He asked me why I was laughing.

Also correct: asked me in any item; 3 whether I called (past simple can stay in speech). Wrong: "what time did the movie start" · "if was I hungry" · "if I have called" · "when would the bus come" · any question mark.

◆ EXERCISE 2 – FIX THE MISTAKE

- 1 She asked where I lived. (remove did and "?"; statement order; backshift)
- 2 He asked what time the store opened. (remove does; backshift)
- 3 They asked if / whether I was ready. (add if / whether; statement order)
- 4 I asked him why he was angry. (subject before verb)
- 5 She asked me if / whether I liked coffee. (remove did; add if / whether)
- 6 The teacher asked us if we had finished. (remove "?")

Accept shop (British) in 2.

◆ EXERCISE 3 – AT THE CLINIC (SCRIPT 3.2-A)

- 1 She asked Mr. Kim if / whether he had an appointment.
- 2 She asked him what time his appointment was.
- 3 She asked if he had been there before.
- 4 She asked him to spell his last name.

- 5 She asked whether / if he had his insurance card.
- 6 She told him to fill out the form. (also: to fill in, British; to complete)
- 7 She told him not to forget to sign it.

Item 4 is a trap: "Can you spell your last name?" is a question in form, but it is a polite request, so asked him to spell is best. Accept "asked if he could spell his last name" as correct grammar with a note. Wrong: 2 "what time was his appointment" · 3 "if he has been" · 7 "to not forget" / "don't forget".

◆ EXERCISE 4 – COMMANDS AND REQUESTS

- 1 The teacher told us to open our books.
- 2 My friend asked me to wait for him / her.
- 3 The doctor told me not to eat before the test.
- 4 Mom asked me not to be late.
- 5 The guide told us to stay together.
- 6 My neighbor asked me to water his / her plants.

Also correct: told in 2, 4 and 6 is understood but sounds less polite than the original; mark with a note. Mum (British) in 4. Wrong: "told to us" · "told me don't eat" · "asked me to not be late" · "asked me that I wait."

◆ EXERCISE 5 – REMINDED · WARNED · ADVISED · ORDERED

1 reminded · 2 warned · 3 advised · 4 ordered (also accept told).

◆ DIALOGUE – THE DOCTOR'S EXACT QUESTIONS

1 "Are you sleeping well?" · 2 "How much water do you drink?" Also accept "Do you sleep well?" for 1.

◆ SPEAKING – SURVEY REPORT, MESSAGE RELAY & "MY INTERVIEW REPORT"

Survey (open). Check the choice between the wh- word and if / whether, statement word order, and the backshift.

Model: I asked Omar what he usually ate for breakfast. He said he ate eggs and bread. Lina asked me whether I liked spicy food. I told her I loved it.

Message Relay. The model reports and to-dos for all 8 cards are in the classroom materials (set E). A note that has the right action is correct even if the spoken report had small errors.

My interview report (open). Look for 6+ reports with asked / wanted to know / told / asked + to, one if / whether, one not to, no do / did and no "?". Model (a job interview): The manager asked me where I had worked before. She wanted to know if I could work on weekends. She asked me whether I had a driver's license. She told me to bring my references. She asked me not to be late on my first day. She said she would call me on Friday.

◆ SELF-CHECK

Q1

Which is the correct reported question for "Where do you live?"

A) She asked where did I live?

B) She asked where I lived.

C) She asked where lived I.

Why: statement word order (subject + verb), no did, no "?", and live → lived.

Q2

Report this command: "Don't touch the paint."

A) He told me not to touch the paint.

B) He told me to not touching the paint.

C) He told that I didn't touch the paint.

Why: told + person + not to + base verb. B has the wrong order and -ing; C has no person and changes the meaning.

Q3 · new

Report this question: "Do you have a car?"

A) He asked if I had a car.

B) He asked did I have a car.

C) He asked if did I have a car.

Why: a yes/no question → if / whether + statement order; have → had. B has no if; C keeps did.

ERRORS YOU WILL HEAR MOST (3.2)

"She asked where did I live." · "He asked what time does it start." · "They asked was I ready." · "She asked me if I was ready?" · "He told me don't worry." · "She told me to not worry." · "She said me to wait." · "He asked to me..." · "askt" said as "ask." Correct the word order and the extra do / did every time: this is the focus of the lesson. Recast "told me don't" with not to.

3.3 · RELATIVE CLAUSES (C9)

◆ EXERCISE 1 – CHOOSE THE PRONOUN

1 who (also that) · 2 where · 3 whose · 4 which (also that, or nothing: "the laptop I bought") · 5 when (also that or nothing in speech) · 6 who (not that: there are commas).

◆ EXERCISE 2 – WHO AM I? WHAT IS IT?

1 d (mechanic) · 2 c (fridge) · 3 f (airport) · 4 a (chef) · 5 e (passport) · 6 b (post office).

7 (open): It's a person who helps doctors / takes care of sick people in a hospital. · 8 (open): It's a place where you keep your money / where you can get cash. Check who for the person and where + subject + verb for the place ("where you...", not "where keeps money").

◆ EXERCISE 3 – MAKE ONE SENTENCE

- 1 I have a friend who speaks five languages. (also: that)
- 2 This is the book that / which changed my life.
- 3 We visited a village where my mother grew up. (also: which my mother grew up in)
- 4 I know a man whose car is worth a fortune.
- 5 My brother, who lives in Chicago, is a nurse. (also: My brother, who is a nurse, lives in Chicago.)
- 6 Our new apartment, which we moved into last month, has a big kitchen. (also: Our new apartment, which has a big kitchen, ... is less natural; accept)

Wrong: 1 "a friend which" · 2 "the book which it changed" · 3 "a village where my mother grew up there" · 4 "who's car" / "who his car" · 5 missing the second comma · 6 "which we moved in" is common in speech; accept, but moved into is the careful form.

◆ EXERCISE 4 – COMMAS OR NOT? DROP THE PRONOUN?

- 1 Non-defining (one car): My car, which is very old, broke down again. 🔒 must stay.
- 2 Defining (which people? the ones we met): no commas. who is the object → ✂ can drop: "The people we met on vacation..."
- 3 Defining: no commas. who is the subject (she won) → 🔒 must stay.
- 4 Non-defining (we know which city): Venice, which is full of canals, is sinking slowly. 🔒 must stay.
- 5 Defining: no commas. that is the object (we watched it) → ✂ can drop: "The movie we watched last night..."

In 2, whom is also possible in very formal English; don't teach it at B1. holiday (British) = vacation.

◆ EXERCISE 5 – THE COMMAS CHANGE THE MEANING

1 a (no commas: "which brother? the one in Texas," so there are others) · 2 d (commas: all the students finished early and all went home; in c, only the early finishers went home).

◆ DIALOGUE – THE DROPPED PRONOUN

"The bread they make is amazing." (= the bread that / which they make). Other clauses in the dialogue: who just came in, who's wearing, whose daughter, who opened, which opened last month (non-defining), where I bought, who works.

◆ SPEAKING – "WHO AM I? / WHAT IS IT?" GAME, BINGO, SENTENCE STRIPS, "MY PEOPLE, PLACES & THINGS"

Game: any clear definition with the right pronoun wins. Each card (classroom materials, set F) shows the word and two "Don't say" words; the bingo definitions in Script 3.3-A are good models. Bingo (Script 3.3-A): nurse, chef, mechanic, waiter, airport, post office, bank, station, fridge, umbrella, passport, key (doctor, supermarket, remote and hotel are not called). Sentence strips: answers in the classroom materials (set G). My people, places & things (open): 6 sentences with who / which / where / when / whose, at least one non-defining clause with two commas and no that. Model: My best friend is someone who always listens. I have a neighbor whose cat visits me every day. The town where I grew up is next to a river. My kitchen is the place where I relax. My phone, which is five years old, still works well. I'll never forget the day when I passed my driving test.

◆ SELF-CHECK

Q1

"I know a man ____ car is worth a fortune."

A) who

B) whose

C) which

| Why: the car belongs to the man (= his car), so whose.

Q2

Which sentence has the correct commas?

A) My father that is retired plays golf.

B) My father, who is retired, plays golf.

C) My father who is retired, plays golf.

| Why: you have one father, so the fact is extra → non-defining: two commas and who (never that). C has only one comma.

Q3 · new

Which sentence is NOT correct?

A) The movie I watched was great.

B) The man called me was angry.

C) The house where I live is old.

Why: in B the pronoun is the subject (he called me), so it must stay: "The man who called me was angry." In A the dropped pronoun is the object, which is fine.

ERRORS YOU WILL HEAR MOST (3.3)

"The book which I read it." · "The man which..." / "the car who..." · "London, that is huge, ..." · "The man called me was angry." · commas around a defining clause (German, Russian, Polish speakers) · only one comma · "who's" for "whose" · "the town where I was born there." Correct the extra pronoun and the missing subject pronoun every time. Treat commas as a writing focus: in speech, listen for the pause.

Lessons 4.1–4.3

Classes C10–C12

9 self-check items

15 exercises

MARKING PRINCIPLE

At B1, mark meaning and form together. In the passive, the be verb (tense + agreement) and the past participle are the two things to check; a spelling slip in a correct participle ("recieved") is a success with a note. In deduction, the choice of modal is the meaning: might for must is a small shift, but mustn't for can't changes the meaning and is always wrong. may and could are always acceptable for might. Opinion tasks are open: mark the phrase and the support, never the opinion itself. American English is the model; British forms (city centre, parcel, postman, have got to, practise) are acceptable when a learner uses them.

4.1 • THE PASSIVE VOICE — HOW IT'S MADE (C10)

◆ EXERCISE 1A — HOW IS COFFEE MADE? (SCRIPT 4.1-A)

Workbook line	Step
The beans are roasted.	4
The coffee cherries are picked.	1
The coffee is packed and sold.	6
The beans are dried in the sun.	3
The skins are removed.	2
The roasted beans are ground.	5

Order to say aloud: picked → skins removed → dried → roasted → ground → packed and sold. If a learner puts "dried" before "skins removed," accept it with praise: some farms dry the whole cherry first. The point is the passive, not coffee science.

◆ EXERCISE 1B — NEWS IN BRIEF (SCRIPT 4.1-B)

1 was opened • 2 was designed • 3 were given • 4 was stolen • 5 was found • 6 was hurt

Why no doer? opened (not important: the city) · designed by students (the agent is kept because it is interesting) · given by local families (kept: it's the story) · stolen (unknown) · found (obvious: the police) · hurt (the point is "nobody").

◆ EXERCISE 2 – MAKE THE PASSIVE

1 is spoken · 2 was built · 3 are made · 4 were sent · 5 isn't served (is not served) · 6 Were ... taken · 7 is grown · 8 were held

Wrong: "The Eiffel Tower is built in 1889" (past date → past be) · "These shoes is made" (plural → are) · "Was the photos taken" · "was hold / was helded." In 7, rice is uncountable → is.

◆ EXERCISE 3 – ACTIVE → PASSIVE

- 1 My phone was stolen. (drop "by someone")
- 2 The office is cleaned every evening. (drop "by them")
- 3 The Mona Lisa was painted by Leonardo da Vinci. (keep the agent: it's the interesting part)
- 4 Spanish is spoken in Mexico. (drop "by people")
- 5 A new phone was launched last year. (agent optional: "...by the company")
- 6 Plastic isn't recycled here. (drop "by them")

Also correct: full negatives (is not recycled). Accept an agent in 5; mark "by someone / by them / by people" in 1, 2, 4 and 6 with a note ("correct, but the passive's job is to drop it"), not as wrong grammar.

◆ EXERCISE 4 – FIND AND FIX

- 1 English is spoken here. (*no passive without be)
- 2 The bridge was built in 1890. (*past date → past be)
- 3 These cars are made in Japan. (participle, not base verb)
- 4 My bag was stolen. (empty agent)
- 5 An accident happened on Main Street. (happen has no object → no passive)

◆ EXERCISE 5 – MADE OF / FROM / IN / BY, THEN "MY 6 FACTS"

1 of · 2 from · 3 in · 4 by · 5 from

In 5, from is best (the trees are changed into paper and you can't see wood). If a learner says "made of wood" about paper, praise the logic and show the difference with cheese (from milk) vs a table (of wood).

My 6 facts (open). Look for: the right be + participle every time, 3 present and 2 past, one useful by. Model (tea): Tea is grown in China, India and Kenya. The leaves are picked by hand. Then they are dried and packed. Tea was first drunk in China thousands of years ago. It was brought to Europe in the 1600s. Today, billions of cups are drunk every day. A process about bread, cheese, a local product, a building in town or a dish from anywhere is equally good.

◆ HOW IT'S MADE QUIZ (CLASSROOM MATERIALS, SET B)

#	Answer	Full passive sentence to accept
1	B China	Paper was first made (invented) in China.
2	A Brazil	Most of the world's coffee is grown in Brazil.
3	B Tim Berners-Lee	The World Wide Web was invented by Tim Berners-Lee.
4	B milk	Cheese is made from milk.
5	A a world's fair	The Eiffel Tower was built for a world's fair.
6	B Alexander Fleming	Penicillin was discovered by Alexander Fleming.
7	A South America	Potatoes were first grown in South America.
8	A sand	Glass is made from sand.
9	B Leonardo da Vinci	The Mona Lisa was painted by Leonardo da Vinci.
10	A Athens	The first modern Olympic Games were held in Athens.
11	B Canada	Most of the world's maple syrup is made in Canada.
12	A Naples, Italy	Pizza was first made in Naples.
13	A the US	Blue jeans were first made in the US.
14	B cacao beans	Chocolate is made from cacao beans.
15	A China	Silk was first made in China.
16	A Hungary	The ballpoint pen was invented by a man from Hungary.

+1 point for the sentence only if be and the participle are right (tense and number). Accept invented / made / produced where they fit the meaning. Learners who know better or different facts (e.g. "Coffee is also grown in Vietnam") get a bonus "good point," never a penalty.

◆ FACT-FILE INFORMATION GAP (SET D)

The Riverside Bridge (A knows)	Sunrise Chocolate (B knows)
When was it built? In 1932.	When was the company founded? In 1998.
Who was it designed by? Maria Kowalski, a young engineer.	Who was it started by? Two sisters.
What is it made of? Steel and stone.	Where are the beans grown? In Ghana.

How often is it painted? Every ten years (green).	How is the chocolate made? By hand.
How many cars cross it? / How many cars is it crossed by? 20,000 every day.	Where is it sold? In 30 stores.
When was it closed? In 2019, for repairs.	Where is it exported to? Canada and Mexico.

Both files are invented, so the facts can't be looked up: success = the question form. Listen for Wh- + was / is / are + subject + participle. "When the bridge was built?" (no inversion) is the most common error; recast it. Active questions ("When did they build it?") are correct English; praise them, then ask for the passive version.

◆ SELF - CHECK

Q1

"The letters ___ yesterday."

A) are sent

B) were sent

C) was sent

Why: yesterday → past be; letters is plural → were. A is present; C is singular.

Q2

Which is the best passive of "They built the school in 1985"?

A) The school was built in 1985.

B) The school is built in 1985.

C) The school was built by them in 1985.

Why: same tense as the active (past), and the vague doer they is dropped. B has the wrong tense; C is grammatical but "by them" adds nothing.

Q3 · new

Which sentence is correct?

A) An accident was happened.

B) My bag was stolen.

C) Rice is grown by people in Asia.

Why: happen has no object, so it has no passive (A). C is an empty agent: "Rice is grown in Asia."

ERRORS YOU WILL HEAR MOST (4.1)

"English spoken here." (no be) · "The bridge is built in 1890." (wrong tense of be) · "are make / was builded / was stealed" · "An accident was happened." · "It was stolen by someone." · "When the bridge was built?" · "Here speaks English." (Spanish se) · "made of milk." Correct the missing be and the participle every time; treat the empty agent as style, not grammar.

4.2 · MODALS OF DEDUCTION & OBLIGATION (C11)

◆ EXERCISE 1 – WHERE'S SAM? (SCRIPT 4.2-A)

Idea	The clue	Modal
He's stuck in traffic.	He rides his bike to work.	can't
He's still asleep.	It's not like him; maybe his alarm didn't ring (not sure)	might
He's sick.	He looked pale yesterday.	may (might / could)
He's on his way.	A message at 9:15: "Leaving now!"	must Accept any clue in the learner's own words. Point out the new evidence at the end: the speakers move up the certainty scale when they find a better clue. That is how deduction works.

◆ EXERCISE 2 – MUST, CAN'T OR MIGHT?

1 can't · 2 must · 3 might (may / could) · 4 must · 5 can't · 6 must

Also acceptable: 4 might / could (he could just feel cold) if the learner explains; 6 might (it might be free bread!) with a reason. Wrong: mustn't in 1 or 5; can in 3.

◆ EXERCISE 3 – FIX THE DEDUCTION

1 That can't be her brother. She doesn't have one.

2 The store can't be open. All the lights are off.

- 3 He can't be Italian. He doesn't speak a word of it.
- 4 This can't be the right address. There's no number 40.

Why: for "I'm sure it's not true," the opposite of must is can't. mustn't means "not allowed." Also acceptable: couldn't be (rare at B1). "It isn't her brother" is correct English but not a deduction; ask for the modal.

◆ EXERCISE 4 – RULES AND ADVICE

1 don't have to · 2 mustn't · 3 should · 4 have to · 5 have to · 6 don't have to

Also correct: 2 can't (the most natural US form) · 4 and 5 must. Wrong: 1 mustn't (it would mean paying is forbidden!) · 6 mustn't (a suit isn't forbidden, just not necessary) · 3 have to (it's advice, not a rule).

◆ EXERCISE 5 – "MUST": RULE OR DEDUCTION?

1 R · 2 D · 3 R · 4 D · 5 D

Clue for learners: must be / must know + a reason in the situation = deduction; must + an action someone requires (wear, sign in) = rule.

◆ SPEAKING – MY 3 DEDUCTIONS (OPEN)

Check: a clue for each, so, modal + base verb, can't for the negative. Model: The window is wet, so it must be raining. There's a cup on the table, so someone might be home. The TV is off and it's quiet, so my brother can't be watching the game.

◆ "WHOSE BAG?" CASE (SET G)

It must be Mei's bag.

Clue	What the group can say
1 · gloves and a warm scarf	It might be anyone's. It could be Mei's or Luis's (both are going somewhere cold).
2 · a plane ticket to Toronto	It can't be Grace's (she's going to Miami). It might be Mei's or Luis's.
3 · a passport	It can't be Omar's (he doesn't have a passport yet).
4 · a book: Easy Recipes	It might be Mei's (she loves cooking) or Omar's (a chef), but Omar is out already.
5 · a hospital ID badge that starts "M..."	It can't be Luis's (he's a bus driver, and he hates flying). It must be Mei's: she's a nurse.

◆ DETECTIVE CARDS (SET F) – MODEL DEDUCTIONS

Open task; any logical deduction with the right modal is correct. One model per card: 1 They must be away. · 2 She might be busy / Her phone could be off. · 3 He must be going somewhere special. · 4 It must be raining. · 5 The food can't be very good / It might be new. · 6 She must be going somewhere cold. · 7 He must be tired. · 8 She must have good news. (accept: she might be happy about something) · 9 Someone must be looking for it. · 10 That can't be right. It must be a mistake. · 11 The bread must be really good. · 12 They can't be at home. Advice lines: any should / shouldn't + base verb.

◆ RULES OR ADVICE? CARDS (SET H)

have to / must	wear a seatbelt (car) · show your passport (airport) · buy a ticket before you get on (train) · wash your hands before you cook (restaurant job)
don't have to	pay (free museum) · go to work (office closed on Sunday) · bring food (host said no) · turn on your camera (teacher says it's your choice)
mustn't / can't	run (pool) · talk loudly (library) · take more medicine than it says should	drink lots of water (a cold) · arrive early (job interview) · go to bed early (tired)

Accept should for "wash your hands" and "arrive early" as advice if the learner explains; accept must / have to for "arrive early" if they say it's the company's rule. The discussion is the point.

◆ SELF-CHECK

Q1

"The whole house is dark and quiet. They ___ be asleep."

A) must

B) mustn't

C) don't have to

Why: a positive deduction from clues → must. B means "not allowed"; C means "not necessary." Neither is a deduction.

Q2

The sign says the entrance is free. Which sentence is correct?

A) You don't have to pay.

B) You mustn't pay.

C) You can't be paying.

Why: free = not necessary → don't have to. B says paying is forbidden; C is a deduction, not a rule.

Q3 · new

"His car isn't here and his lights are off. He ____ be at home."

A) mustn't

B) can't

C) must

Why: the clues say "sure it's not true" → can't. mustn't is never a negative deduction; C says the opposite of the clues.

ERRORS YOU WILL HEAR MOST (4.2)

"He mustn't be at home." (→ can't) · "She must to be tired." · "It must is broken." · "It can be the mail carrier." (→ might / could) · "You mustn't come, it's optional." (→ don't have to; German speakers especially) · "can't" said like "can" · "Maybe he is sick." (fine, but ask for might). Correct mustn't for can't and mustn't for don't have to every time: both reverse the meaning.

4.3 · REVIEW PROJECT — OPINIONS & STORYTELLING (C12)

◆ EXERCISE 1 — WHAT IS THE PHRASE DOING?

1 O · 2 D · 3 A · 4 O · 5 D · 6 D

5 I'm afraid I disagree is polite because of I'm afraid; it is more direct than 2 and 6. Good discussion point.

◆ EXERCISE 2 — IS SOCIAL MEDIA GOOD FOR US? (SCRIPT 4.3-A)

Heard (10): If you ask me · I'm not sure I agree · The main reason is · For example · I see what you mean, but · On the other hand · That's a good point · Exactly · It seems to me that · I take your point. Not heard (2): In my opinion · I couldn't agree more.

Does Maya (A) change her mind? A little. She says "Maybe it depends on how you use it," but she still thinks we spend too much time on it. Accept "yes, partly" or "no, not really" with a reason.

◆ EXERCISE 3A — THE BAG ON THE TRAIN (SCRIPT 4.3-B) used to	I used to take the train to work every day.

relative clause	a woman who was sitting across from me · a notebook, which had a name and a phone number reported speech	She told me that she was on her way to a job interview... and that she needed the laptop.
must / might / can't	She must be really worried.

the passive	it was picked up an hour later · a card was delivered to my house
present perfect	I've taken that train hundreds of times since then · I've never found anything else
If... would / I wish	If I found a bag again, I'd do exactly the same thing. · I wish more stories were like that one.

◆ EXERCISE 3B – COMPLETE WITH THE RIGHT FORM

1 had · 2 said · 3 was making (or had made) · 4 which · 5 must

3: the teacher said "You're making real progress" → was making; or "You've made real progress" → had made (past perfect, recognition only until 5.1). Accept is making if the learner means it's still true (US speakers often don't backshift). 4: that is wrong here (no that after a comma). 5: might is a meaning error with the cue "almost sure."

◆ EXERCISE 4 – SO DO I / NEITHER DO I

1 So do I. · 2 Neither do I. · 3 So have I. · 4 Neither can I. · 5 Neither did I. · 6 So am I.

Also correct in speech: Me too. (1, 3, 6) and Me neither. (2, 4, 5). Wrong: "I don't too," "So don't I," "Neither I do." Nor do I is correct but more formal.

◆ EXERCISE 5 – TURN A FACT INTO AN OPINION (MODELS)

- 1 If you ask me, learning a language is hard at first, but it gets easier. For example, I couldn't order a coffee in English two years ago.
- 2 It seems to me that social media is popular because it keeps us connected, which is why so many people use it every day.
- 3 As far as I'm concerned, working from home is great for some jobs. The main reason is that people don't have to travel.

Mark: an opinion phrase + a reason or an example. Any opinion is fine.

◆ PROJECT PARTS A AND B – THE MINI DEBATE AND THE STORY

Open. Score with the C12 speaking checklist (classroom materials, Set K). Debate planner: look for an opener, 2 reasons, an example and one If + past, would sentence. Story frame: notes (not sentences) and one target structure per step. The model story (Script 4.3-B) shows all five steps.

◆ SELF-CHECK

Q1

Your friend says, "I think exams are useless." You disagree, but you want to be polite.

A) No, that's completely wrong.

B) I see what you mean, but I think they do measure some skills.

C) Exactly, I couldn't agree more.

Why: acknowledge first, then disagree with a reason. A is blunt; C agrees.

Q2

Which sentence is a correct second conditional (an imaginary idea)?

A) If we ban cars, the air will be cleaner.

B) If we banned cars, the air would be cleaner.

C) If we will ban cars, the air would be cleaner.

Why: If + past simple, would + base verb. A is a correct first conditional (a real possibility), not imaginary; C has will after if.

Q3 • new

"I don't like crowds." You feel the same. You say:

A) So do I.

B) Neither do I.

C) I don't too.

Why: agree with a negative → Neither + helper verb + I. A agrees with a positive; C is not English ("Me neither" is fine in speech).

ERRORS YOU WILL HEAR MOST (4.3)

"I am agree." · "According to me..." · "I think no." · "In my opinion, I think..." · "We discussed about..." · "You're wrong." (a tone problem) · "So do I" after a negative · "If I will have time..." · "I use to take the train." (used to: the d is hard to hear, so check it in writing) · "She told me that she is..." (accept in US speech if still true). In C12, note errors for delayed feedback only; never stop a debate or a story to correct.

Module 5 — Narrating Past & Future: Answers

Answers to every Module 5 workbook exercise and self-check question, with the "why," acceptable alternatives, notes for the classroom materials (What Had Happened?, the Worst Day Ever story chain, Life in 2040), and the errors you can expect to hear most.

Classes C14–C16

15 exercises

MARKING PRINCIPLE

At B1, mark meaning first, then form. Tense choice in stories and futures often has more than one good answer. Mark a choice wrong only when it changes or blurs the meaning: the past simple where the order becomes unclear ("When I arrived, the train left" = I saw it leave), a continuous for a sudden event, or will in a time clause. Contractions and full forms are both correct (had left / 'd left; will be / 'll be). A small spelling slip in a participle ("forgoten") is a success with a note. American English is the model; British forms (film, cinema, holiday, lift, cancelled, practise, at the weekend) are acceptable when a learner uses them.

◆ MY GOAL AFTER PROGRESS TEST 1

Personal; not marked. Read the goals after C14 (if learners are happy to share the workbook) so you can support them. A good goal names one area and one small, regular action ("I will write three sentences with if every Sunday"). If a goal is very big ("speak perfect English"), help the learner make it smaller in a private moment.

5.1 • PAST PERFECT — THE EARLIER PAST (C14)

◆ EXERCISE 1 – WHY WAS SAM LATE? (SCRIPT 5.1-A)

He forgot to charge his phone.	He woke up at 7:30.	He left his ID card at home.	He got to the bus stop.	He waited twenty minutes.	He arrived at the office.
1	2	3	4	5	6

So the numbers next to the workbook lines (in workbook order) are: 5 • 1 • 6 • 2 • 4 • 3. The trap: Sam says the ID card last ("I realized I'd left my ID card at home"), but it happened before he left the house. Spoken sentence: "When he got to the bus stop, the bus had already left." (Also correct: had left, 'd gone.)

◆ EXERCISE 2 – MAKE THE PAST PERFECT

- 1 had already started
- 2 hadn't slept (had not slept)
- 3 had gone

- 4 had never eaten
- 5 had lost
- 6 Had you met him before the party? — No, I hadn't.

All positive forms may use 'd (the show'd already started is heard but rarely written; I'd, she'd, they'd are normal).

Wrong: "had already start" · "hadn't sleep" · "had went" · "had never ate" · "Did you had met..." · "No, I didn't."

◆ EXERCISE 3 – WHICH CAME FIRST?

- 1 woke up ... had made
- 2 couldn't ... had locked
- 3 had read ... called (also correct: read ... called, because after already shows the order)
- 4 had started ... found
- 5 was ... had never driven

Item 4 is the one pairs argue about: the movie started first (earlier → had started), we found our seats later. Wrong: "had woken up ... made" (the order is reversed), "hadn't could," "had never drove."

◆ EXERCISE 4 – JOIN THE TWO EVENTS

- 1 By the time I got there, the store had closed. / The store had closed by the time I got there.
- 2 After I had finished my work, I went home. / I went home after I'd finished my work. (Also accept: After I finished my work, I went home.)
- 3 She had never seen the ocean before she visited Florida.
- 4 He couldn't log in because he had forgotten his password.

Either clause order is correct. Wrong: both verbs in the past perfect ("By the time I had got there, the store had closed"); "had forgot"; "She never had seen" (word order: had never seen).

◆ EXERCISE 5 – DO WE NEED THE PAST PERFECT?

1 A (a simple list in order: no jump back) · 2 B (the bank closed before I got there; A means I saw it close) · 3 B (not eating = the earlier cause) · 4 B (no later past moment; "born" is just the past simple).

Item 2 A is not "wrong English," it's a different story: it means the bank closed at the moment I arrived. Use it for a good CCQ.

◆ DIALOGUE & SPEAKING

Past perfects in the dialogue (6): had already left · 'd booked · had canceled · 'd saved · 'd never had to · had closed.
 Why B missed the flight: "Because the taxi never came: the app had canceled it."

My story (open). Look for: the moment in the past simple, 6 past perfect sentences for the earlier actions, by the time, already or just between had and the participle, never ... before, and one because ... had .... Model: When I got to the café, my friends had already ordered. I'd told them I was coming at six, but I'd written the wrong time in my phone. By the time I sat down, they'd eaten all the fries! I was embarrassed because I had never been late for Ana's birthday before. She'd just opened her presents. In the end, we all laughed.

◆ SELF - CHECK

Q1

"When I got home, my sister ____ dinner." (cooking before I got home)

A) cooked

B) had cooked

C) was cooking

Why: the earlier, finished action takes the past perfect. A suggests she cooked after I arrived; C means she was in the middle of cooking.

Q2

Which sentence is correct?

A) The bus had already leave when we arrived.

B) The bus didn't had left when we arrived.

C) The bus had already left when we arrived.

Why: had + past participle (left), with already between them. A uses the base verb; B mixes did with had.

Q3 • new

Lena was nervous on the plane. She ____ before.

A) has never flown

B) had never flown

C) had never fly

Why: a first-time experience before a past moment → had never + participle. A (present perfect) connects to now, but the story is in the past; C uses the base verb.

ERRORS YOU WILL HEAR MOST (5.1)

"When I arrived, the train already left." · "She had forget / had went." · "Had you did...?" / "Did you had...?" · "When I had arrived, the train had left." (both verbs in the past perfect) · "I had been born in..." (no later past moment) · "Yes, I'd." Correct the participle and the did mix-ups every time; let a past simple + already go in fluent speech if the meaning is clear, and recast.

5.2 · NARRATIVE TENSES — TELLING A STORY (C15)

◆ EXERCISE 1 — DEV'S WORST DAY (SCRIPT 5.2-A)

- 1 At ten o'clock (10 a.m.).
- 2 It was sunny: the sun was shining (and the birds were singing).
- 3 It broke down: it stopped suddenly.
- 4 His umbrella.
- 5 He was soaked (completely wet), and he had coffee on his new shirt.
- 6 The manager laughed, they talked for an hour, and Dev got the job.

Verbs: background: was shining, were singing, was feeling, was drinking, was running · action: stopped, got off, started, went, laughed, said, talked, got · flashback: had prepared, had bought, had broken down, 'd left. Any correct one is fine.

◆ EXERCISE 2 — BACKGROUND, ACTION OR FLASHBACK?

- 1 was snowing ... left
- 2 was cooking ... called
- 3 had cut
- 4 were sitting ... ran off
- 5 had finished
- 6 opened ... found

Also correct: 1 snowed ... left is possible but loses the background feel (accept with a note). 4 ran away. Wrong: "While Tom cooked..." is understood but weak (keep while + continuous); "a dog was running off" for the sudden event; "she cut her hair" in 3 (it happened before; accept only if the learner explains a same-day sequence).

◆ EXERCISE 3 — ADD THE CONNECTORS

1 First · 2 Then · 3 While · 4 Suddenly · 5 By the time · 6 In the end.

Accept After that in 2 if a learner uses it. Wrong: "At the end" in 6 (→ In the end); "When" in 3 is possible English, but the box asks for while.

◆ EXERCISE 4 – LABEL THE VERBS was falling C · sat S · had had P · was reading C · rang S · opened S · found S · had left P · turned out S.

had had surprises learners: the first had is the helper, the second is the participle of have. Say it naturally: "She'd had a long day."

◆ EXERCISE 5 – ORDER, THEN WRITE

Workbook order: we finally found the movie theater 3 · we decided to see a movie 1 · the movie had already started 4 · we were driving around, looking for parking 2 · in the end we still enjoyed it 5.

Model story: First, we decided to see a movie. We were driving around for ages, looking for parking, and by the time we finally found the movie theater, the movie had already started. In the end, though, we still enjoyed it. Accept any story with the three tenses doing their jobs and two or more connectors.

◆ SPEAKING – STORY CHAIN & STORY MAP

Open. Check each step's tense: ① scene = past continuous (+ It was...) · ② flashback = past perfect · ③ problem = suddenly + past simple · ④ then + past simple, or while + past continuous · ⑤ by the time + past simple, then past perfect · ⑥ in the end + past simple. Listen for listener reactions and one follow-up question. A story that ends well or funny is the target; don't push for "worse" events.

◆ SELF-CHECK

Q1

"I ___ home when I ___ a loud noise."

A) was walking ... heard

B) walked ... heard

C) was walking ... was hearing

Why: a long background action (past continuous) interrupted by a short event (past simple). B loses the "in progress" meaning; C makes the sudden noise continuous.

Q2

"By the time the guests arrived, she ____ the cake."

A) baked

B) was baking

C) had baked

Why: by the time points to something already finished before the later moment → past perfect.

Q3 · new

We were watching TV. Suddenly, the lights ____ out.

A) were going

B) had gone

C) went

Why: suddenly + a short main event = past simple. A makes it a long background; B would mean the lights were already out before we started watching.

ERRORS YOU WILL HEAR MOST (5.2)

"Suddenly the phone was ringing." · "While I walked home, ..." · "I walking home when..." (no was) · "I was knowing him." · the past perfect for every verb in the story · "At the end, everything was fine." · he/she mix-ups with named characters · "Actually" meaning "now." In the story chain, note these and correct later; in Ex 2–4, correct straight away.

5.3 · FUTURE FORMS & FUTURE CONTINUOUS (C16)

◆ EXERCISE 1 – NORA AND SAM PLAN THE WEEK (SCRIPT 5.3-A)

- 1 A small party for Leo's birthday, after work (at about six, in the break room).
- 2 He's seeing the dentist.
- 3 To pick up the cake from the bakery.
- 4 As soon as she gets the order number.
- 5 At home: she'll be working from home.

 plan	I'm going to order a cake
 offer	I'll pick it up for you!
will be + -ing	Will you be using the meeting room? · I'll be working from home · we'll be eating cake
time clause	as soon as I get it · until the party starts

◆ EXERCISE 2 – CHOOSE THE BEST FUTURE FORM

- 1 'll close (will close)
- 2 're flying (are flying)
- 3 's going to fall
- 4 'll be lying
- 5 'm going to sign up
- 6 will be ('ll be)

Also correct: 2 're going to fly (a plan; less "fixed," but fine) · 5 'm signing up if the learner means it's already booked · 6 is going to be (acceptable as a prediction). Wrong: 1 "I'm going to close" is correct English but not a decision made now (discuss, don't mark wrong in speech) · 3 "will fall" is weaker with visible evidence · 4 "will lie" / "'ll lying" · "I sign up next month."

◆ EXERCISE 3 – PRESENT OR WILL ?

- 1 'll text ... land
- 2 calls
- 3 go
- 4 finishes ... 'll go
- 5 won't buy ... saves

Also correct: 1 'm going to text · 4 're going to go. Wrong: any will in the time clause ("as soon as I will land," "until she will save") · missing -s: "until the doctor call," "when the class finish."

◆ EXERCISE 4 – PRIYA'S DAY TOMORROW

- 1 At 10:00, she'll be teaching a computer class.
- 2 At 1:00, she'll be having lunch with Ana.
- 3 At 3:00, she'll be meeting a client.
- 4 At 6:30, she'll be cooking dinner.

5 "Not really. She'll be watching a movie."

Accept Priya will be... and full forms. Wrong: "she'll teaching," "she will be teach," "she is teaching at 10:00" (fine as an arrangement but not the target here: praise, then ask for will be -ing). "This time tomorrow, I'll be..." sentences are open.

◆ EXERCISE 5 – MAKE IT POLITE

- 1 Will you be coming to the meeting on Monday?
- 2 Will you be staying for dinner?
- 3 Will you be working late on Friday?

Wrong: "Will you be come...?" · "Are you will be...?" · "Will be you...?"

◆ DIALOGUE & SPEAKING

Dialogue find: arrangements I'm having a few people over · I'm meeting a client · decisions with I'll: I'll text you · I'll make a dessert (also I'll call you) · plan I'm going to try that new shop · will be + -ing we'll all be sitting · time clause as soon as I finish work.

Life in 2040 (open). Look for: 3+ different future forms, one will be + -ing, one time clause with the present, a reason for each prediction, and polite agreeing / disagreeing. Model: In 2040, most people will probably be working from home three days a week. I don't think offices will disappear, though, because people like to meet. When cars drive themselves, teenagers won't need a license. Cash might disappear, but I'm not sure. My grandma still pays for everything with cash!

◆ SELF-CHECK

Q1

Which sentence is correct?

A) I'll phone you when I will get home.

B) I'll phone you when I get home.

C) I phone you when I get home.

Why: present simple in the time clause, will in the main clause. A has will after when; C has no future in the main clause.

Q2

"This time tomorrow, I ___ across the ocean."

A) will fly

B) will be flying

C) am flying

Why: the flight is in progress at that future moment → future continuous. A suggests the flight starts then. C is heard in casual speech for a booked trip, but it doesn't show "in the middle of it" (accept in conversation, not in this item).

Q3 · new

Don't call me at 9 tonight. I ___ my English homework.

A) will do

B) 'll be doing

C) do

Why: at 9 I'll already be in the middle of the homework → will be + -ing. A means I'll start at 9; C is not future.

ERRORS YOU WILL HEAR MOST (5.3)

"I'll call you when I will arrive." · "I call you tomorrow." · "I'll flying / I'll be fly." · "After ten years, cars will fly." (→ in ten years) · "I will a new phone." (German/Dutch want) · "Will you be come...?" · "In 2040 years." (→ in 2040). In the discussion, correct only what blocks meaning; save the rest for feedback.

CLASSROOM MATERIALS — ANSWERS & NOTES

◆ WHAT HAD HAPPENED? (SET D) — OFFICIAL ANSWERS

The answer strip is printed on each card. Accept any logical answer with a correct past perfect as a "win" if the reader agrees it fits the clues; the strip is only the "official" story.

8	She'd won two concert tickets on the radio.	16	She hadn't slept on the 14-hour flight.

◆ WORST DAY EVER (SET E) & LIFE IN 2040 (SET F)

No fixed answers. Use the story-map tense guide above (5.2 speaking) and the 5.3 speaking checklist. The event cards carry a suggested step number, but any logical placement is fine.

Module 6 — Precision & Detail: Answers

Answers to every Module 6 workbook exercise and self-check question, with the "why," acceptable alternatives, the classroom-materials answers (Editor B, verb sort, meaning-change cards, role-play language, Community Center task), and the errors you can expect to hear most.

Lessons 6.1–6.3

Classes C17–C19

9 self-check items

15 exercises

MARKING PRINCIPLE

This module is about precision, so in the controlled exercises mark the form exactly. But in open writing and speaking, mark generously: an article slip rarely blocks meaning, and learners from article-free languages need many months of noticing. Count a missing or extra article in open work as a note, not a fail. A choice is wrong when it changes the meaning (stopped to smoke for someone who quit; few friends for someone who is happy; too good as praise). American English is the model; British forms (film, holiday, favourite, practise, go to hospital, post a letter, at the weekend) are acceptable when a learner uses them.

6.1 • ARTICLES — A / AN, THE & NO ARTICLE (C17)

◆ EXERCISE 1 — MY NEW NEIGHBORHOOD (SCRIPT 6.1-A)

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	13
a	a	the	a	the	an	an	a	The	the	—	—	—

Reasons: 1, 2, 4, 8 new (first mention) • 3 the river: the local one everybody knows (accept a if the learner explains "one river, new to the listener" — the script says the) • 5, 9, 10 second mention • 6 an + vowel sound "old" • 7 an + "elderly" • 11 go to work (fixed) • 12 by bus (fixed) • 13 life in general.

◆ EXERCISE 2 — A, AN, THE OR — ?

- 1 an honest person (silent h) • a nurse (job)
- 2 — music (general) • the songs (specific: the ones my grandmother taught me)
- 3 — dinner (meal) • the news (fixed with the)
- 4 a phone (first mention) • the phone (second mention)
- 5 — Italy (country) • the sea (the one near them / unique in context)
- 6 — school (for its purpose) • — bus (by + transport)

- 7 the piano (instrument) · — tennis (sport)
- 8 — bed (go to bed = to sleep)
- 9 an hour (silent h) · the doctor (the one we were waiting to see)
- 10 The Earth · the sun (only one)

Also correct: 7 "plays piano" is common in casual American English; accept it but teach the. 9 "a doctor" is possible if it's any doctor in a big clinic; accept with a good reason. Wrong: "a hour," "the Italy," "the dinner" (the meal in general), "go to the bed" (unless the learner means the object).

◆ EXERCISE 3 – YOU ARE THE EDITOR (12 MISTAKES)

Welcome to our community garden! Last spring, a group of neighbors decided to turn an empty lot on the Maple Street into a garden. Today, the garden has more than forty vegetable beds. Most beds belong to families, but there is also a bed for the elementary school next door. The children come every Friday with their teacher, who is also a volunteer here. We grow the tomatoes, beans, and herbs, and we give the extra vegetables to a food bank. The gardening is good for your health! Water is free, but please bring your own tools. We meet on the first Saturday of every month at 10 a.m. New members are always welcome — you don't need to be an expert. Just bring a hat and a smile!

Type	Mistake → correction	Reason
Missing (6)	^a group · ^an empty lot · into ^a garden · also ^a bed · also ^a volunteer · on ^the first Saturday	first mention ×4 · a role/job · ordinal (first)
Extra (3)	the Maple Street · the tomatoes · The gardening	street name · general plural · general activity
Wrong (3)	a garden → the garden · a expert → an expert · the hat → a hat	second mention · vowel sound · any hat (new)

Traps (correct as written): our community garden (possessive, no article) · Most beds belong to families (general) · the elementary school next door (defined by what follows) · The children (the school's children: specific) · the extra vegetables (the ones from this garden) · a food bank (also OK: the local food bank) · Water is free (The water is also acceptable: the garden's water) · a smile. If a learner changes a trap and gives a sensible reason, give credit for the thinking and explain why the original works.

◆ EXERCISE 4 – ONE MISTAKE IN EACH SENTENCE

- 1 My brother wants to be a doctor. (job)
- 2 I think life is beautiful. (general: no the)
- 3 She plays the guitar in a band. (instrument)

- 4 We went to France on vacation. (country: no the)
- 5 Can you close the window? (we both know which)
- 6 I don't really like dogs. (general)

Also correct: 4 "on holiday" (British). 3 "She plays guitar" (casual US) — accept but it doesn't fix the mistake the learner was asked to find; the target is the.

◆ EXERCISE 5 – ONE NOUN, THREE WAYS (OPEN)

Look for: a / an for one portion or one example, the + a reason it's specific (here, this, the one I bought), and a general sentence with no article. Model with bread: Can I buy a loaf of bread? (note: bread is uncountable, so "a bread" is wrong; a strong learner will spot this) · The bread at this bakery is amazing. · I eat bread every day. Model with soccer: I bought a soccer ball. · The soccer game last night was exciting. · I play soccer on Sundays.

◆ SPEAKING – DESCRIBE & DRAW (OPEN) · EDITOR B (CLASSROOM MATERIALS)

Describe & Draw: check the pattern There's a ... → The ... is ..., general sentences with no article, and one fixed phrase if it fits. The drawing should match the description; mismatches usually come from a missing the ("There is table" → B draws a second table).

Editor B (10 mistakes: 4 missing, 5 extra, 1 wrong): Hi Sam, I have good news: I got a job! I'm a cook at a new restaurant downtown. The restaurant (not A) is small, but the kitchen is modern and the owner is very kind. I start the work at six in the morning, so I go to the bed early now. I take the bus to work — it's the fastest way. The best part? The lunch is free for the staff! The life is busy, but I'm happy. Let's have dinner next week. I'll send you a message on the Monday. Talk soon, Li Missing: a job · a cook · the fastest · a message. Extra: the work · the bed · The lunch · The life · the Monday. Wrong: A restaurant → The restaurant. Traps: the kitchen, the owner (the restaurant's: clear from the situation), the bus (the usual route; by bus also fine), The best part, the staff.

◆ SELF - CHECK

Q1

Which sentence is correct?

A) She's teacher at a big school.

B) She's a teacher at a big school.

C) She's the teacher at big school.

Why: jobs take a / an, and a big school is new information. A drops the job article; C uses the for a first mention and drops the article before big school.

Q2

"I really enjoy ____, especially ____ that plays in this restaurant."

A) the music ... the music

B) music ... the music

C) music ... music

Why: first music in general (no article), then specific music (defined by "that plays in this restaurant").

Q3 · new

The bus was late. We waited for ____ hour!

A) a

B) an

C) the

Why: the h in hour is silent, so the first sound is a vowel: an. The hour would need a specific hour we both know.

ERRORS YOU WILL HEAR MOST (6.1)

"I'm engineer." / "She's doctor." · "I bought phone. Phone is broken." · "The life is hard." / "I like the animals." · "the France" · "a hour" / "an university" · "have the breakfast" · "go to the bed" (for sleeping) · "play guitar" (accept in speech). Correct the job article and the extra the in general statements every time in controlled work; in speaking, note them for delayed feedback.

6.2 · GERUNDS & INFINITIVES — VERB PATTERNS (C18)

◆ EXERCISE 1 — -ING OR TO?

- 1 reading (enjoy + -ing)
- 2 to stay (decide + to)
- 3 waiting (mind + -ing)
- 4 cooking (after the preposition at)
- 5 to pay (offer + to)
- 6 seeing (to is a preposition here: "looking forward to the weekend")
- 7 Learning (-ing as the subject)

8 to buy (can't afford + to)

Wrong: "looking forward to see" (the most common), "good at cook," "To learn a language takes time" (grammatical but formal and unusual; accept with a note, the target is Learning).

◆ EXERCISE 2 – CHOOSE THE FORM FOR THE MEANING

1 to have (stopped in order to eat)

2 eating (end the habit)

3 to mail (a future task)

4 meeting (a past memory)

5 restarting (tested it as a solution)

6 to buy (a task I didn't do)

7 to open (a big effort)

Also correct: 3 "to post" (British). 5 "tried to restart it" is not wrong English, but it means "made an effort" (maybe it was hard to restart), so it doesn't match the meaning given.

◆ EXERCISE 3 – VERB + PERSON + TO

1 He asked me to help him.

2 The doctor advised her to rest.

3 They invited us to come to their party.

4 She warned him not to touch the wire.

5 My mom reminded me not to forget my passport. / My mom reminded me to take (bring) my passport.

Also correct: 3 "They invited us to their party" (invite + to + noun). Wrong: "He asked to help him" (now he helps) · "She warned him to not touch" (accept in speech; standard is not to) · "reminded me don't forget."

◆ EXERCISE 4 – WHICH ONE DID YOU HEAR? (SCRIPT 6.2-A)

1 b · 2 a · 3 a · 4 b · 5 a · 6 a · 7 b · 8 b

If you read the alternative sentences in the script (for a second round), the answers flip: 1 a · 2 b · 3 b · 4 a · 5 b · 6 b · 7 a · 8 a.

◆ EXERCISE 5 – MY VERB COLLECTION (OPEN)

Check each verb is in the right column and each sentence uses the pattern. Model: I enjoy walking in the park. · I avoid eating late. · I keep losing my pens. · I can't stand waiting in line. · I miss cooking with my sister. | I want to get a better job. · I decided to join a gym. · I hope to visit Canada. · I promised to call my mom every Sunday. · I need to renew my license. Meaning-change pair: I stopped drinking soda. / I stopped to buy water on the way. Watch for like / love / hate / start / begin in either column: both are correct.

◆ CLASSROOM MATERIALS — VERB SORT & MEANING-CHANGE CARDS

Verb sort. + -ing: enjoy, avoid, finish, suggest, keep, mind, can't stand, feel like, give up, miss. + to: want, decide, hope, promise, learn, offer, refuse, manage, agree, can't afford. Both, meaning changes: stop, remember, forget, try.

Meaning-change cards. S1 She stopped buying coffee. → M: She doesn't buy coffee anymore. · S2 She stopped to buy a coffee. → M: She paused on her way so she could buy one. · S3 He stopped talking. → M: He was quiet after that. · S4 He stopped to talk to his neighbor. → M: He was walking, and he paused to chat. · S5 I remember locking the door. → M: I have a memory: I did it. · S6 Remember to lock the door. → M: Don't forget. It's a task for later. · S7 I'll never forget meeting you. → M: It's a special memory. · S8 I forgot to call my mom. → M: I didn't call her. Oops! · S9 Try turning it off and on. → M: Test this idea. Maybe it will fix the problem. · S10 I tried to open the jar, but it was too tight. → M: I made a big effort, but I couldn't. · S11 Try adding a little salt. → M: An experiment: taste it and see. · S12 She tried to stay awake. → M: It was difficult, but she made an effort.

Find Someone Who and the two-minute talk: answers are personal. Check the question keeps the pattern ("Do you enjoy cooking...?", "Do you remember learning...?") and the report uses he/she + -s ("She can't stand waiting.").

◆ SELF-CHECK

Q1

Which sentence is correct?

A) I enjoy to swim in the sea.

B) I enjoy swimming in the sea.

C) I enjoy swim in the sea.

| Why: enjoy takes the -ing form. A uses to; C uses the base form.

Q2

"We were driving all day, so we ____ lunch." (= we paused in order to eat)

A) stopped having

B) stopped to have

C) stopped have

| Why: stop to do = pause in order to do. A means they don't have lunch anymore; C is not a pattern.

Q3 · new

I'll never forget ____ the ocean for the first time.

A) to see

B) seeing

C) see

Why: it's a memory of something that happened, so forget + -ing. Forget to see would mean "not do a task."

ERRORS YOU WILL HEAR MOST (6.2)

"I'm looking forward to see you." · "I enjoy to cook." · "interested in learn" / "before to leave" · "She told to wait." / "I want that you listen." · "He suggested to go." · "I stopped to smoke" (meaning "I quit") · "I enjoy cook" (no -ing). Correct looking forward to + -ing and the missing person after tell / ask every time: both can change or blur the meaning.

6.3 · DEGREE & QUANTITY — COMPLAINTS & COMPLIMENTS (C19)

◆ EXERCISE 1 — TOO, ENOUGH, TOO MUCH OR TOO MANY?

1 too (before the adjective) · 2 too much (uncountable work) · 3 enough (after the adjective) · 4 too many (countable people) · 5 enough (before the noun) · 6 enough (after tall) · 7 too much (uncountable sugar)

Also correct: 1 "very heavy" is grammatical but loses the "problem" meaning with for me to lift; mark as a note.

Wrong: "too many work," "enough old," "too much people."

◆ EXERCISE 2 — SO, SUCH OR SUCH A?

1 so (adjective alone) · 2 such a (singular noun person) · 3 such (plural noun stories) · 4 so (adjective alone) · 5 such (uncountable weather)

- 1 The movie was so funny that we laughed for hours. / It was such a funny movie that we laughed for hours.
- 2 It was such a long meeting that I almost fell asleep. / The meeting was so long that I almost fell asleep.

Also correct: that can be dropped in speech ("It was so funny we laughed for hours"). Wrong: "such nice weather" → "such a nice weather" (weather is uncountable) · "so a long meeting."

◆ EXERCISE 3 — HOW MUCH? HOW MANY?

A. 1 a little (positive, uncountable) · 2 a few (positive, countable) · 3 few (negative, countable) · 4 a little (uncountable, a small amount) · 5 little (negative, uncountable)

B. 6 All people (general: no of) · 7 Most of my friends (my → of) · 8 none of them (pronoun → of) · 9 Some of the students (the → of; Most of is also correct: "a few didn't" suggests most passed) · 10 all of the cake / all the cake (both fine)

Also correct: 5 "very little time." 3 "not many people" (same meaning, less formal). Wrong: "most of people," "the most of my friends," "none them."

◆ EXERCISE 4 – A RESTAURANT REVIEW (SCRIPT 6.3-A)

- 1 On Saturday (night), with a few friends.
- 2 The food was so delicious that they stayed for three hours · the waiter was such a friendly person (he remembered all of their names). Accept also: the chicken soup was perfect; the bread was fresh.
- 3 The restaurant was too small for a busy Saturday night · there were too many tables and not enough space to walk · there was too much noise to have a real conversation. Accept also: they waited forty minutes for a table.
- 4 Most of the desserts were sold out; only a few were left.
- 5 Three stars (out of five). She'd go back on a quiet Tuesday.

◆ EXERCISE 5 – MAKE IT PRECISE (SAMPLE ANSWERS)

- 1 The soup has too much salt. / The soup is too salty.
- 2 The jacket is too small. / The jacket isn't big enough.
- 3 There isn't enough hot water. / The water isn't hot enough.
- 4 There are too many people on the bus.
- 5 The nurse was so kind that I felt calm. (any logical result)
- 6 It was such a great party that we stayed until midnight. (any logical result)

◆ SPEAKING – COMPLAINTS & COMPLIMENTS · COMMUNITY CENTER (CLASSROOM MATERIALS)

Role-play (open). A strong performance has all five moves: a soft start (Excuse me, I'm sorry to bother you, but...), 2–3 exact problems with too / not ... enough / too many / too much, a polite request (Could you...? / Would it be possible to...?), B's apology + offer (I'm so sorry. I'll... / We have a few...), and a compliment with so / such. Expected problem sentences per card: 1 Hotel The room is too cold / isn't warm enough · there aren't enough towels · there's too much noise. 2 Restaurant The soup is too salty / has too much salt · we waited too long · the table is too small for four. 3 Store The jacket is too small / the sleeves aren't long enough · the zipper is broken · the receipt price is too high (it was on sale). 4 Internet The internet is too slow to watch videos · the bill is too high · there are too many ads / calls. 5 Delivery The food was so late that it was cold · there wasn't enough rice · some of the drinks were missing. 6 Class The room is too crowded · there aren't enough computers · the class is too early for people who work nights.

Community Center (open). Any set of fixes that stays within $1,500 is correct. Check the report language: Most of the complaints are about..., There aren't enough..., so we'll..., We have a little money left for..., None of us thought ... was important. One efficient answer: chairs ($400) + heater ($350) + second Saturday class time (volunteer, $0) + a bike rack ($250) + fix the lights ($300) = $1,300, with $200 left.

◆ SELF-CHECK

Q1

Maya is 15. In her state you must be 16 to drive. Which sentence is correct?

A) She isn't enough old to drive.

B) She isn't old enough to drive.

C) She isn't too old to drive.

Why: enough comes after the adjective. A has the wrong word order. C is grammatical but means "her age is not a problem," which is the opposite of the situation. (The workbook adds Maya's age because the online quiz asks "Which is correct?" without context, and C is correct English.)

Q2

"It was ___ interesting book ___ I read it in one day."

A) so ... that

B) such an ... that

C) such an ... so

Why: there's a noun (book), so such; singular + vowel sound, so an; the result starts with that.

Q3 · new

"Hurry up! We have very ___ time." (not much: a problem)

A) a little

B) little

C) few

Why: time is uncountable (little, not few), and the meaning is negative (no a). A little time would mean "don't worry, there's some."

ERRORS YOU WILL HEAR MOST (6.3)

"The food was too delicious!" (praise) · "enough big" · "so a nice day" / "such nice" · "too much people" · "I have few friends" (meaning a few, happy) · "most of people" / "the most of my friends" · "such a nice weather."

Correct too as praise and enough word order every time; in the role-play, praise precise complaints even if a small form slips.

Lessons 7.1–7.3

Classes C20–C22

9 self-check items

16 exercises

MARKING PRINCIPLE

This is a functional module, so mark appropriacy and meaning first, then form. Many polite phrases are correct in a gap or a rewrite. Accept any phrase that is polite, clear and fits the situation, even if it's not the one in the key. Mark wrong: rude or blaming language, a missing request (a complaint that only describes the problem), I'm agree, So am I after a do-verb, and the infinitive after a preposition (good at to cook). American English is the model; British forms (apologise, favourite, parcel, organise, practise, CV) are acceptable when a learner uses them.

7.1 • AGREEING, DISAGREEING & DISCUSSION (C20)

◆ EXERCISE 1 – PHONES AT SCHOOL (SCRIPT 7.1-A)

- 1 David.
- 2 Grace: "I couldn't agree more."
- 3 Parents sometimes need to contact their children, for example when the bus is late.
- 4 age ("I suppose it depends on the age.")
- 5 No phones in class (during lessons).
- 6 Any two of: maybe, to be honest, I suppose.

Also correct in 5: "Phones should stay in bags during class." In 3, accept "for safety / emergencies" if the learner connects it to contacting children.

◆ EXERCISE 2 – AGREE OR DISAGREE?

1 A • 2 D • 3 A • 4 D • 5 A • 6 D • 7 A • 8 D.

Discuss 1: it has couldn't but means complete agreement. Discuss 5: "That's a good point" is agreement with respect, though it can also come just before a "but" ("That's a good point, but..."). If a learner says so, praise the thinking. Alone, it's agreement.

◆ EXERCISE 3 – COMPLETE THE DISCUSSION

1 opinion · 2 point · 3 sure · 4 honest · 5 think · 6 agree · 7 concerned · 8 seems.

Wrong: "It seem to me" (no -s) · "As far as I concern" · "I couldn't agree most."

◆ EXERCISE 4 – SO... I / NEITHER... I

- 1 So am I.
- 2 Neither do I.
- 3 Neither can I.
- 4 So do I.
- 5 Neither have I.
- 6 Neither did I.

Also correct (informal): Me too (1, 4) and Me neither (2, 3, 5, 6). Nor do I is also correct. Wrong: "So do I" for 1 (the verb is be) · "Me too" after a negative · "Neither I do."

◆ EXERCISE 5 – MAKE IT POLITE (MODEL ANSWERS)

- 1 I'm not so sure. I think working from home can be a bit lonely.
- 2 That may be true, but I think children need phones for safety.
- 3 I see your point, but to be honest, I find the city too noisy.
- 4 I'm afraid I disagree. Actually, I think online shopping is faster.

Accept any version that (1) acknowledges or cushions, (2) uses but or another soft opener, (3) gives the view without attacking the person. A softener (a bit, to be honest, maybe) is a bonus. Wrong: keeping "You're wrong" or "That's stupid" anywhere in the answer.

◆ DIALOGUE – UNDERLINE TASK

Opinion: Personally, I feel... · As far as I'm concerned... · Agreeing: That's a good point. · Exactly! · I couldn't agree more. · Polite disagreement: I'm not so sure. · I see your point about..., but... · But don't you think...? · Softeners: to be honest · a bit · Maybe · I suppose · Actually.

◆ SPEAKING – STRUCTURED DISCUSSION (SUCCESS CRITERIA)

Answers are personal. A successful speaker: gives one opinion with a reason, agrees once, disagrees politely once (acknowledge → but → view), asks someone for their opinion by name, uses a softener, and waits for their turn. A successful chair asks every person at least once. A successful summarizer reports both sides: "Most of us think..., but Ana doesn't agree because..." Observers' bingo lines show which phrases were used. Use them in feedback.

◆ SELF-CHECK

Q1

Your colleague says, "We should cancel the trip." You disagree politely.

A) No, you're wrong.

B) I see your point, but I think we should wait a little longer.

C) Absolutely, let's cancel it.

Why: B acknowledges first, then gives a different view. A attacks the person; C agrees.

Q2

"I love long walks." You love them too.

A) So am I.

B) So do I.

C) Neither do I.

Why: love is a present simple verb, so the auxiliary is do. Neither is for negative statements.

Q3 · new

Which sentence is correct?

A) I'm agree with you.

B) I agree with you.

C) I am agreeing you.

Why: agree is a verb, so no am. It's a state verb, so no -ing, and it takes with + a person.

ERRORS YOU WILL HEAR MOST (7.1)

"I'm agree." · "So am I." (after "I like it") · "Me too." (after a negative) · "In my opinion, I think..." · "According to me..." · "We discussed about it." · "Actually" meaning "now" · a flat "No." or "You're wrong." · interrupting mid-sentence. Correct I'm agree every time (it fossilizes fast). For bluntness, don't mark it as a "mistake"; model the cushioned version and ask "Which one would you rather hear?"

7.2 · COMPLAINTS & GETTING THINGS FIXED (C21)

◆ EXERCISE 1 – TWO PHONE CALLS (SCRIPTS 7.2-A AND 7.2-B)

Name / apartment	Ana Silva · Apt 4B
Problem	the kitchen sink is leaking (water on the floor)
Since	Monday
What Ana has done	put a bucket under it
Repair day and time	Saturday at 10 (a.m.)
Reference number	R-257

Call B: 1 He was charged twice (two payments) for his electricity bill. · 2 $86. · 3 The first agent (Kevin) said he couldn't give refunds. · 4 In five to seven days. · 5 An email to confirm the refund.

Trap in A: the manager offers Thursday morning, but Ana is at work, so she asks for Thursday after five or Saturday. Only Saturday is agreed.

◆ EXERCISE 2 – SOFTEN THE RUDE COMPLAINT

1 possible · 2 afraid · 3 bother · 4 appreciate · 5 apologize · 6 mind.

Also correct in 5: apologise (British). Tell learners both are right. Wrong: "Would you mind to move us" (6 needs the -ing already given: mind moving).

◆ EXERCISE 3 – COMPLETE THE COMPLAINT

1 problem · 2 work · 3 charged · 4 refund · 5 arrived · 6 sort · 7 since · 8 declined.

Also correct in 2: "doesn't work / isn't working" (if the learner changes the verb). In 6, American English also says "I'll take care of it right away." Wrong: "leaking for Monday" (7) · "My card was decline" (8, missing -d).

◆ EXERCISE 4 – MATCH THE PROBLEM TO THE REQUEST

1 → b · 2 → a · 3 → d · 4 → c · 5 → e · 6 → f.

◆ EXERCISE 5 – COMPLAINT EMAIL (MODEL, OPTION A)

READ ALOUD

Subject: Wrong item in order #58213

Dear Customer Service Team,

I'm writing to complain about my recent order. On May 3, I ordered a blue sweater in size M from your website. Unfortunately, the package arrived yesterday with a red sweater inside. I have kept the receipt and the original packaging.

I would appreciate it if you could send me the blue sweater as soon as possible, or give me a full refund.

Could you please also send me a return label for the red one?

Thank you for your help. I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Maria Lopez

Check for: a clear subject with a number · I'm writing to complain about... · details (date, item, what's wrong) · a specific request (I would appreciate it if you could... / Could you please...?) · a polite ending and name · no blaming ("You sent me the wrong thing" is OK but less polite than "the package arrived with..."). Option b: "...I was charged $30 for a service I did not order... I would appreciate it if you could remove the charge and refund the $30." Don't mark down short sentences; B1 emails can be simple.

◆ DIALOGUE – FIND TASK

Soft opener: Excuse me, I'm sorry to bother you, but I'm afraid there's a problem with this jacket. · Problem: the zipper is broken. · Request: Would it be possible to get a refund? · Escalation: I understand, but I'd really prefer a refund. Could I speak to a manager, please?

◆ SPEAKING – COMPLAINT CAROUSEL (SUCCESS CRITERIA)

The customer: uses a soft opener, describes the problem clearly (with a detail: date, amount, how long), makes a specific polite request, stays calm, and, when the staff card refuses, escalates with "I understand, but..." + a request for a manager or supervisor. On the phone, they spell a name, give a number, ask for a reference number or name, and confirm the arrangement. The staff member: apologizes and offers an action. At the desk: the email has the parts of the Ex 5 frame, and the reply has an apology + action.

◆ SELF-CHECK

Q1

You want a replacement for a broken kettle.

A) Replace this now. It's broken.

B) I'm afraid this kettle is faulty. Would it be possible to replace it?

C) This kettle doesn't work at all.

Why: B has a soft opener, the problem and a polite request. A is an order; C describes the problem but doesn't ask for anything.

Q2

A customer says their order is wrong. You work in the store.

A) That's not our fault, sorry.

B) Oh dear, that's a shame.

C) I'm terribly sorry about that. I'll sort it out right away.

Why: apology + action. A blames; B is sympathy with no action.

Q3 · new

The first person on the phone can't help you.

A) You're useless. Get me your boss.

B) I understand, but I'd like to speak to a manager, please.

C) OK, never mind. Goodbye.

Why: polite escalation: acknowledge, then a clear, calm request. A attacks the person; C gives up, and the problem isn't fixed.

ERRORS YOU WILL HEAR MOST (7.2)

"I want that you give me a refund." · "Give me my money back." · "The sink is leaking since Monday." · "I wait since two hours." · "Would you mind to check?" · "I want to do a complaint." · "You charged me two times!" · "My card was decline." · "complain" for "complaint" (and vice versa). Correct the verb patterns (mind + -ing, has been + -ing since) every time. For too-direct requests, don't just correct: show the ladder and ask "Which one gets the refund faster?"

7.3 · WORK & INTERVIEWS — DESCRIBING YOUR EXPERIENCE (C22)

◆ EXERCISE 1 — SAMUEL'S INTERVIEW (SCRIPT 7.3-A)

- 1 He's a delivery driver, and he's been doing it for about two years.
- 2 In a supermarket (stocking shelves and dealing with customers).
- 3 Any two: he likes being active · he's good at organizing things · the company offers forklift training (and he'd love to learn).
- 4 S: Last winter a snowstorm closed a road on his route. · T: He had 15 deliveries to finish before 6 (p.m.). · A: He called his supervisor, planned a new route with a map app, and phoned customers to say he'd be a little late. · R: He delivered every package that day, and two customers wrote nice reviews.
- 5 He used to get nervous speaking in meetings. He's been taking an English class and practicing speaking up.
- 6 "What does the training look like for new staff?"

◆ EXERCISE 2 — COMPLETE THE INTERVIEW ANSWERS

1 working · 2 responsible · 3 experience · 4 strengths · 5 good · 6 applied · 7 colleagues · 8 deadlines.

Wrong: "I've been work as" (1) · "a lot of experiences in sales" (3: in this meaning experience is uncountable) · "One of my main strength" (4: one of + plural).

◆ EXERCISE 3 — THE RIGHT LITTLE WORD OR FORM

1 for · 2 in · 3 at · 4 dealing · 5 training · 6 for · 7 since · 8 for.

Also acceptable in 2: experience with marketing (common in American English). Wrong: "responsible of" · "good in languages" · "involves to deal" · "since three years."

◆ EXERCISE 4 – MATCH THE QUESTION TO A GOOD ANSWER

1 → b · 2 → d · 3 → a · 4 → e · 5 → f · 6 → c.

◆ EXERCISE 5 – PUT THE STAR STORY IN ORDER

In the order printed: A · S · R · T. The story reads: S (volunteering in a community kitchen) → T (the cook was sick; lunch for 80 people by noon) → A (organized volunteers, gave jobs, cooked) → R (served on time; asked to lead the Saturday team).

Point out: the Action uses I and past simple verbs (organized, gave, cooked), and volunteering is real experience.

◆ EXERCISE 6 – MY INTERVIEW ANSWERS (MODEL)

Answers are personal. Model (candidate profile: Amina, nursing assistant): I'm currently finishing a nursing assistant course at the community college. I've been caring for my elderly neighbor for two years, so I have experience in helping people with daily tasks. Before that, I worked in a hotel as a housekeeper. Now I'm looking for a position in a care home, which is why I applied for this job. STAR: Last month, my neighbor fell in her kitchen (S). I had to help her and get medical help quickly (T). I checked that she could move, called 911, and stayed with her until the ambulance came (A). She was OK, and the paramedic said I did the right things (R).

Check for: present perfect with for / since · preposition + -ing · a clear Present → Past → Future order · a STAR story with all four parts and past verbs · a question for the interviewer.

◆ SPEAKING – MOCK INTERVIEW PANELS (SUCCESS CRITERIA)

Use the observer checklist (materials Set G). A successful candidate: greets and thanks · answers "Tell me about yourself" in Present → Past → Future (30–60 seconds) · uses the present perfect correctly at least once · gives a strength with an example · tells a STAR story with a Result · turns a weakness into growth · asks one question at the end · uses a filler instead of a long silence. A successful observer gives one specific strength and one specific tip.

◆ SELF-CHECK

Q1

Which sentence is correct?

A) I'm responsible for to manage the team.

B) I'm responsible for managing the team.

C) I'm responsible managing the team.

| Why: for is a preposition, so it takes -ing. C is missing for.

Q2

The strongest answer about strengths.

A) I'm just a really good worker.

B) I don't really have any weaknesses.

C) I'm good at working under pressure. For example, I regularly met tight deadlines in my last job.

Why: a specific strength + an example (proof). A is vague; B answers a different question and sounds arrogant.

Q3 · new

"I've been working as a cook ____ 2019."

A) for

B) since

C) from

Why: 2019 is a starting point, so since. For is for a length of time (for five years). "From 2019" needs an end ("from 2019 to 2022").

ERRORS YOU WILL HEAR MOST (7.3)

"I have 5 years working here." · "I work here since 2019." · "since five years" · "I been working..." (no 've) · "responsible of" · "good in" · "good at to cook" · "I work as nurse." · "my actual job" (= current) · "apply to a job" · "a lot of experiences" · STAR stories in the present tense or with no Result · "We did..." all through the Action. Also listen for modesty that hides skills ("I'm not so good..."). Treat that as a genre issue, not an error: "Give yourself credit, then add proof."

Module 8 — Fluency & the Final Project: Answers

Answers to every Module 8 workbook exercise and self-check question, with the "why," acceptable alternatives, the classroom-materials answers (intonation script, Split or Stick?, Sort It Out cards), guidance for the open presentation tasks and the rubric, and the errors you can expect to hear most.

Lessons 8.1–8.3

Classes C23–C25

9 self-check items

15 exercises

MARKING PRINCIPLE

At B1, mark communication first. In this module most tasks are spoken, and the goal is fluency. A tag with the right form but flat intonation is a success with a note; a phrasal verb with a pronoun in the wrong place is worth correcting, because it is a clear rule. Accept right? as an informal American tag in conversation, but not in the tag exercises. American English is the model; British forms (get on with, fill in, rubbish, holiday, practise, neighbour) are acceptable when a learner uses them.

8.1 • QUESTION TAGS & KEEPING A CONVERSATION GOING (C23)

◆ EXERCISE 1 – ADD THE QUESTION TAG

- 1 aren't you (positive are → negative)
- 2 does she (negative → positive; present, she → does)
- 3 didn't they (past simple, no helper → did)
- 4 can't he
- 5 have we
- 6 shall we (Let's → shall we)
- 7 doesn't he (your brother → he; present → does)
- 8 aren't I (I am → aren't I)

Wrong: "don't he" (item 7: the subject is he → does) • "isn't it" for everything • "amn't I" • "am I?" (item 8: same polarity). "Am I not?" in 8 is grammatically correct but very formal; accept it with a note.

◆ EXERCISE 2 – ↗ OR ↘? (SCRIPT 8.1-B, ITEMS 1–6)

1 ↘ (sure: it's a beautiful day) • 2 ↗ (checking: is the bank open?) • 3 ↘ (we both saw it; expecting agreement) • 4 ↗ (really asking: I lost my phone) • 5 ↘ (sure: it's delicious) • 6 ↗ (checking the time).

The script gives a short context before each tag ("Oh, I'm not sure..." / "Mmm!") so learners can hear and reason. Items 7–10 of the script are for the class drill only (7 ↗ · 8 ↘ · 9 ↗ · 10 ↘). If a learner argues for the other arrow and can explain it ("Maybe she's really not sure about the movie"), praise the thinking: both are possible grammatically; the voice decides.

◆ EXERCISE 3 – ECHO QUESTIONS

1 Is she? · 2 Have they? · 3 Can he? · 4 Don't you? · 5 Did you? · 6 Are you?

Echo questions keep the same polarity as the statement (unlike tags): "I don't like coffee." → "Don't you?" Also correct: "Oh really?" in any item (but the exercise asks for the echo). Wrong: "Does she?" in 1 (she's living = is) · "Did they?" in 2 (they've bought = present perfect → have) · "Do you?" in 4.

◆ EXERCISE 4 – FIX THE TAG

- 1 You like pizza, don't you? (the pronoun is you, not it)
- 2 I'm right, aren't I?
- 3 She has left, hasn't she? (positive → negative)
- 4 Open the window, will you? (also: would you? / can you? / won't you?)
- 5 Let's dance, shall we?

◆ EXERCISE 5 – KEEP IT GOING (OPEN)

Look for a reaction (echo or interest phrase) + a follow-up question that fits. Models:

- 1 Have you? That sounds fun! What are you learning to cook?
- 2 Did she? That's wonderful! What was the prize for?
- 3 Oh no! That's terrible. Have you talked to your neighbor about it?
- 4 Are you? How nice! Which beach are you going to?

Accept any correct echo: 1 "Have you?" · 2 "Did she?" · 3 "Can't you?" (or "Oh no!") · 4 "Are you?". Common slips: "Do you?" for 1 (I've started → have) · "What it was like?" (word order: What was it like?) · a closed follow-up that ends the chat ("Is it good?"); encourage open questions (What / Where / How...?).

◆ DIALOGUE – PRIYA AND TOM

Tags (4): didn't you · is it · won't you · shall we. Reactions (2): Oh really? · Is it? (an echo question). Follow-up (1): What was it like? Note: "Is it?" is both an echo and a reaction. The workbook version is slightly shorter than the online dialogue (the online line "You should try it, shouldn't you?" is left out because the tag there is unusual: we rarely use a tag to tell someone what they should do).

◆ SPEAKING – SMALL-TALK MINGLE (OPEN)

Success = the learner opens with a correct falling tag, uses at least one echo and one follow-up question per conversation, backchannels while listening, and uses a rising tag to check a guess in round 4. Answers to guess & check: answer the fact ("You don't eat meat, do you?" — "No, I don't." if true).

◆ SELF - CHECK

Q1

"She doesn't work on Fridays, ___?"

A) doesn't she

B) does she

C) isn't she

Why: a negative statement takes a positive tag, and present simple borrows does. A keeps the same polarity; C uses the wrong verb.

Q2

You are really not sure and want to check. How do you say the tag?

A) With a falling voice ↘

B) With a rising voice ↗

C) It makes no difference.

Why: a rising tag is a real question. A falling tag expects agreement. The words are the same; the voice changes the meaning, so C is wrong.

Q3 · new

"I'm late again, ___?"

A) amn't I

B) aren't I

C) isn't I

Why: the tag for I am is the fixed form aren't I?. "Amn't I" is not standard English (you may hear it in Scotland and Ireland); "isn't I" is never correct.

ERRORS YOU WILL HEAR MOST (8.1)

"..., isn't it?" / "..., no?" after every statement · "She has left, has she?" (same polarity) · "You live here, live you?" / "..., aren't you?" for a present-simple verb · "You don't drive, do you?" — "Yes." (meaning I don't) · flat intonation on every tag · silence while listening (no backchannel) · "How was it like?" (What was it like? / How was it?). Fix the form in controlled practice; in the mingle, note errors for delayed correction and praise any warm reaction.

8.2 · PHRASAL VERBS — A PRACTICAL TOOLKIT (C24)

◆ EXERCISE 1 — LEO AND NADIA (SCRIPT 8.2-A): 12 PHRASAL VERBS

wake up (woke up) · get back (to sleep) · set off · check in · turn on · sort out (sort it out) · look after (looking after) · get along with (UK: get on with) · look forward to (looking forward to) · come up (comes up) · deal with · find out.

Accept the forms as heard (woke up, comes up). Accept get on with (the online version). Stretch: which three are separable here? (turn on, sort out, find out; sort it out shows the pronoun rule.)

◆ EXERCISE 2 — COMPLETE THE PHRASAL VERB

1 up · 2 off · 3 after · 4 up · 5 out · 6 forward (look forward to) · 7 with · 8 into.

Note: up is used twice. Also possible in 1: I wake up (but the verb given is get). Wrong: "look for my cat" in 3 changes the meaning (search for a lost cat); if the learner explains that meaning, accept it with a smile.

◆ EXERCISE 3 — SAY IT THE EVERYDAY WAY

1 take off · 2 turn off (also: switch off, put out) · 3 sort out (also: work out, figure out) · 4 give up (also: quit is already everyday) · 5 put off (They put off the meeting / put the meeting off) · 6 carry on (also: go on, keep going).

take off is not in the class toolkit; many learners know it from airports. If nobody does, teach it here (and its second meaning: take off your coat).

◆ EXERCISE 4 — FIX THE PRONOUN

- 1 The radio's too loud — turn it off.
- 2 I found your keys. I'll pick them up later.
- 3 It's a hard puzzle, but I'll work it out.
- 4 Here's the trash — please throw it away.
- 5 Don't give it up now!

Also correct: turn it down in 1 (a better meaning for "too loud"). British rubbish is fine.

◆ EXERCISE 5 — SPLIT OR STICK?

1	fill out the form		fill it out
---	-------------------	---	-------------

2	look for my glasses		look for them
3	put away the dishes		put them away
4	call back Mr. Diaz		call him back
5	get along with my coworkers		get along with them
6	hand in the report		hand it in

With a noun, "call Mr. Diaz back" and "call back Mr. Diaz" are both fine; with a person's name, Americans usually split it ("call Mr. Diaz back").

◆ CLASSROOM MATERIALS – SPLIT OR STICK? (SET D) ANSWERS

 SPLIT (11)	turn on / off (the TV) · turn up / down (the music) · put away (the clothes) · throw away (the old milk) · clean up (the kitchen) · fill out (the form) · call back (the customer) · sort out (the problem) · put off (the meeting) · hand in (the report) · bring up (children)
 STICK (8)	look for (my keys) · deal with (the complaint) · get along with (my coworkers) · look after (the baby) · catch up with (an old friend) · run into (my neighbor) · count on (my friends) · look forward to (the weekend)
 NO OBJECT (4)	get up · carry on · get together · set off
Two-way	wake up:  (I woke up at five) or  (Wake him up!). Accept either with a correct sentence.

The set has 24 cards: 11 SPLIT (turn on / off and turn up / down are one card each), 8 STICK, 4 NO OBJECT and 1 two-way card (wake up). Watch: carry on can take with (carry on with your work), which is inseparable; accept STICK if the learner says "carry on with it."

◆ CLASSROOM MATERIALS – SORT IT OUT CARDS (SET E) MODEL ANSWERS

A1 The TV is too loud. → I'll turn it down. · A2 There are clothes all over the floor. → I'll put them away. · A3 A customer called while you were out. → I'll call her / him back. · A4 This milk smells bad. → I'll throw it away. · A5 I can't find my glasses. → I'll help you look for them. · A6 The kitchen is a mess after the party. → Let's clean it up together.

B1 I have to fill out this long form. → I'll help you fill it out. · B2 The report is ready. → Great, I'll hand it in. · B3 The printer isn't working. → Don't worry, I'll sort it out. · B4 I don't know the price of the tickets. → I'll find it out. / I'll find out. · B5 I'm too tired for the meeting today. → Let's put it off until Monday. · B6 My sister's baby is sick, and she has to work. → I can look after him / her. (: no split!)

find out with it is less common ("I'll find out" alone is most natural). Accept both.

◆ SPEAKING – TALK CARDS (OPEN)

Look for 2+ phrasal verbs per answer, a pronoun in the middle when the verb is separable, and look forward to + -ing. The group should react with an echo and ask a follow-up question (C23 recycling).

◆ SELF - CHECK

Q1

The light is on. Which sentence is correct?

A) Turn off it, please.

B) Turn it off, please.

C) It off turn, please.

Why: turn off is separable, so a pronoun object must go in the middle. A leaves the pronoun at the end; C has the wrong word order.

Q2

Which phrasal verb is  stick (it can't split)?

A) sort out

B) look after

C) turn on

Why: look after is inseparable: "look after the kids," never "look the kids after." Sort out and turn on can split.

Q3 • new

"I'm really looking forward to ___ you next week."

A) see

B) seeing

C) saw

Why: in look forward to, to is a preposition, so it takes a noun or an -ing form. A is the most common error at B1.

ERRORS YOU WILL HEAR MOST (8.2)

"Turn off it." / "I'll pick up them." · "Can you look my cat after?" · "I look forward to see you." · "I get up the bus." (get on) · "I'm waiting you." (waiting for) · avoiding phrasal verbs entirely (I will discover the price) · "I get along my boss." (missing with). Correct pronoun position every time in controlled practice; in freer speaking, praise any natural phrasal verb first.

8.3 · REVIEW PROJECT — PRESENTATION & PANEL DISCUSSION (C25)

◆ EXERCISE 1 – MAYA'S TALK AND THE PANEL (SCRIPT 8.3-A)

- 1 It's healthy, it saves money, and (if more people cycled) streets would be cleaner and quieter.
- 2 Her expensive bus pass.
- 3 That cycling is not always safe.
- 4 If cities built more bike lanes.
- 5 Because some people live far away (from work).

Signposts heard (6): Today I'd like to talk about · First of all · Another point is · Finally · To sum up · Thank you for listening. Not heard: For example · In conclusion. Stretch: find the B1 structures (past perfect had never felt; phrasal verb gave up; second conditional if more people cycled... would be; reported speech told me she had stopped; tags is it? · isn't it? · shall we?).

◆ EXERCISE 2 – MIXED B1 REVIEW

1 rains (If + present, will) · 2 was (backshift from am) · 3 given (had + past participle) · 4 hearing (look forward to + -ing) · 5 shouldn't we · 6 out.

Also correct: 2 felt (She said she felt tired). Wrong: "will rain" in 1 · "gave" in 3 · "hear" in 4.

◆ EXERCISE 3 – CORRECT THE MISTAKE

- 1 I gave a presentation about the environment.
- 2 If I have time tomorrow, I'll practice again.
- 3 He told me that the room was ready. (or: He said that...)
- 4 You're coming to the panel, aren't you?
- 5 I have finished my slides.

British practise (verb) is fine in 2.

◆ EXERCISE 4 – PUT THE TALK IN ORDER

b 1 · g 2 · d 3 · f 4 · a 5 · c 6 · e 7

So: a 5 · b 1 · c 6 · d 3 · e 7 · f 4 · g 2. Introduction (b + g), point 1 + example (d + f), point 2 (a), conclusion (c), close (e). Accept f after a (4 ↔ 5 swap: the example could illustrate either point) if the learner explains it.

◆ EXERCISE 5 – SAY IT POLITELY (OPEN)

- 1 That's an interesting idea, but I'm not sure it would work. / I see what you mean, but I think it might be difficult.
- 2 That's a good point. However, I think buses might be better for some people. / I see your point, but I prefer the bus.
- 3 (Chair) What's your view on that, [name]? / [Name], what do you think?
- 4 (Chair) We have time for one more question. / To wrap up, let's thank our speakers.

Accept any version that acknowledges first, then gives the view, or (chair) invites or closes politely. Softening words to praise: I think · might · maybe · a little · to be honest.

◆ PLANNING FRAME, PRESENTATION AND PANEL (OPEN)

What a strong B1 talk looks like (3–4 minutes, about 350–450 words spoken): a clear introduction with a reason ("I chose this topic because..."); 2–3 points, each signposted and with an example; at least four different B1 structures; a conclusion that repeats the main idea; one audience question answered. The teacher's model (Script 8.3-B) is a good example to show.

Frames: key words only. If a learner has written full sentences, help them underline 3–4 key words per box and practice from those.

◆ THE PRESENTATION RUBRIC – BAND DESCRIPTIONS

Criterion	★★★ Strong	★★ Getting there	★ Not yet
1 · Structure & signposting	Clear intro, 2–3 points, conclusion; 4+ signposts	Three parts are there, but one is thin; 2–3 signposts	Hard to follow; no clear start or end
2 · Range of B1 language	4+ different B1 structures, mostly correct	2–3 B1 structures, or 4 with errors that sometimes affect meaning	Mostly A2 language (present, past simple, going to)
3 · Fluency & delivery	3–4 min from notes; steady pace; keeps going after a slip	About 2–3 min; some long pauses or some reading	Under 2 min, or reads a script word for word
4 · Pronunciation & clarity	Easy to understand; pauses at signposts; stress on key words	Mostly clear; listeners need to concentrate at times	Listeners often can't follow
5 · Interaction (panel)	Agrees / disagrees politely with reasons; asks or answers questions well	Takes part with one or two turns; some direct phrasing	Doesn't take part, or only reads prepared lines

C25 is practice: use the rubric for feedback and your C26 planning, not for a grade. Peers give only a star (★) and a wish (🌀). The C26 final assessment has its own rubric in the kit's B1 assessment key.

◆ SELF - CHECK

Q1

Which phrase best ends a presentation?

A) Today I'd like to talk about...

B) To sum up...

C) Another point is...

Why: To sum up... signals the conclusion. A opens a talk; C adds a point in the middle.

Q2

In a discussion, how do you disagree politely?

A) No, you're wrong.

B) I see your point, but I'm not sure I agree.

C) (Say nothing and wait.)

Why: acknowledge the other view first, then add yours. A sounds harsh in English; C means you don't take part.

Q3 · new

You are the chair. Ana hasn't spoken yet. What do you say?

A) You, talk now.

B) Ana, what's your view on that?

C) Ana is quiet, isn't she?

Why: a chair brings people in by name with an open, polite question. A is an order; C talks about Ana and could embarrass her (even though the tag is correct!).

ERRORS YOU WILL HEAR MOST (8.3)

Reading a script word for word · "Today I will talk you about..." (talk to you about / tell you about) · "Today we discuss about..." · missing articles ("importance of sport") · "In conclusion" used at the start · "I am agree" / "I agree with you, but..." said so fast it sounds rude · "If more people will cycle..." · rising intonation at the end of every point. Give feedback on communication first (Was it clear? Did people follow?), then one or two forms per learner.
